Davis Guilty In Ticket Switch

Davis was found not guilty on an alternate charge of theft of more than $200.

The former federal fisheries minister who was fired from the provincial cabinet by Premier Bill Bennett, was found guilty in Vancouver County court by Judge J.J. Anderson.

Davis, the MLA for North Vancouver-Seymour, admitted converting the first-class tickets to economy class and using the difference to pay what he felt was a legitimate shortcoming in his expense accounts.

Judge Anderson remanded Davis until Sept. 18 for sentencing.

Outside the court, Davis said he will appeal the decision.

Asked if he plans to resign, Davis said this will be discussed with his constituency executive.

The Constitution Act states that the election of an MLA convicted of a criminal offense is void.

PINCHERS SEGREGATED

A subway official said the move was in part designed to protect women and children from overcrowding and to cut down on men pinching and fondling women.

CITY IN FLAMES

'It's Civil War' In Nicaragua

Times News Services

MANAGUA, Nicaragua — Government troops under orders to kill guerrillas "until the last man" battled for every block in Nicaragua's second-largest city and parts of the capital today in a full-scale civil war in the South American nation. A third city, Masaya, was in flames.

The mounting death toll reportedly was in the hundreds in the fighting between the U.S.-trained army of President Anastasio Somoza and the Sandinista guerrillas, who last month staged a dramatic commando operation at the National Palace.

A communique suspending constitutional guarantees in both cities was issued from the "bunker" — Somoza's headquarters — amid the sounds of gunfire in the capital.

"There is no longer any doubt — it is a civil war," said Alvarro Chamorro Mora, vice president of the anti-Somoza Conservative party.

The national guard, Nicaragua's 7,500-man army and police force, announced that its forces were "maintaining control and order in the whole country." But the Red Cross said there was heavy gunfire Sunday night in two sections of the capital and in the cities of Esteli, Masaya and Leon.

The government newspaper Novedades said at least 16 persons were killed in one of the five districts of Managua where there was fighting. Unofficial reports said there were many casualties in other parts of the capital, and incomplete reports said there were at least 20 dead and many more wounded in other cities.

"Casualties among the terrorists were high," said a government communique, but it gave no figures.

Chamorro Mora said the Sandinista guerrillas — named after a guerrilla leader killed fighting U.S. Marines in the 1930s — had launched an offensive throughout the country.

Fires set by the guerrillas Saturday night were reported still burning more than 24 hours later in Leon, about 96 kilometres northwest of Managua, and in Masaya, 30 kilometres south of the capital.

Sailors Clash At CFB

More than 200 sailors from three different countries wrapped up a drinking party late Sunday night by throwing beer cans and rocks at police officers from four different departments.

Nobody was hurt in the fracas at the Canadian Forces Base Esquimalt junior ranks mess but three men were taken into custody.

Police from Esquimalt, Victoria and RCMP officers from Colwood were called in to back up Military Police when the disturbance started.

About a dozen men from the four law enforcement agencies responded.

A base spokesman said between 200 and 250 sailors from the United States, Britain and New Zealand were involved.

"There were a few punches exchanged (between the sailors) and a few beer cans and rocks were thrown when the MPs showed up," said the Canadian Forces spokesman.

"There were a lot of people there, but it wasn't a John Wayne massacre."

He said there was no damage done to the mess except for a number of broken glasses.

He added it is not known what triggered the fracas.

The sailors came from the New Zealand frigate Otago, the U.S. frigates Brooke and Roark, as well as from eight British ships.

No Canadians were involved.

Esquimalt police took three men into custody but they were later released without charge.

The Canadian Forces spokesman said he expects disciplinary action will be taken by the ships on an in-house basis.

City Tubers Sweep Slate

By AL FORREST
Times Staff

More than 300 paddlers were cheered on by thousands of spectators as the Great Victoria Times Inner Tube Race was run in perfect weather at the Gorge on Sunday.

Bathtubber Mayor Frank Ney of Nanaimo, parade marshal, set off smoke bombs and Capt. Cook applauded as the contestants splashed to the finish line at Gorge Park in the fifth annual race organized by the Hampton Park Hustlers.

The champions, all from Victoria, were:

Women's doubles: Pat Carfra and Kathy Walls, who at 37 and 33 respectively were "out to prove that life doesn't end at 30."

Finishing times were excellent, considering the paddlers were bucking a tide and a brisk wind, a Hustler official said.

Women's and mixed doubles went off together at 1:10 p.m. and Clayton and Braithwaite were the first to finish in a fast time of 32 minutes.

They were closely followed by Phil Hoen and Donna Stevenson who placed second in the mixed doubles category in a time of 34 minutes.

Third across the line were Carfra and Walls, winners of women's doubles, in 37 minutes.

Men's doubles started off 20 minutes later and Ellis and Salmond finished in 30 minutes. There are no official time records kept but the time of Clayton and Braithwaite in mixed doubles was considered very fast.

Rhodesians Angry: Smith Too Soft

SALISBURY (Reuter) — Many white Rhodesians displayed anger and frustration today over Prime Minister Ian Smith's failure to announce drastic new anti-guerrilla measures in his promised "get tough" speech Sunday.

Minutes after Smith finished speaking on national radio and television, telephones at newspaper offices were buzzing with calls from people who accused him of not going far enough.

Many demanded his resignation.

A man who decribed himself as the brother of a girl killed when guerrillas shot down a Rhodesian airliner, said in a telephone interview: "This is not good enough. We are going to take action on our own." He said he would not give his name because he works for the government.

The man said he had expected Smith to pledge revenge attacks on bases in Zambia of the guerrillas, whose leader Joshua Nkomo has admitted his men brought down the Viscount airliner with a missile. Nkomo denies his guerrillas killed 10 survivors.

Other white Rhodesians said they are disappointed that Smith did not fullfil predictions of full martial law and general mobilization. The prime minister announced that a limited form of martial law will be introduced in certain areas.

The national unifying force (NUF) — an alliance of liberal leaning groups — criticized Smith's speech for its absence of political and diplomatic initiatives.

"This was the speech of a man who has run out of ideas," NUF Vice-President Lance Reynolds said. "Apart from blaming anyone but himself he solved no problems, put forward no solutions."

The Herald newspaper, in an editorial headed "damp squib", said: "After the big buildup of the last few days, the prime minister's speech was too full of generalities for many Rhodesians."

Meanwhile, police in Salisbury arrested two more officials of the internal wing of Nkomo's Zimbabwe African Peoples Union (ZAPU) on Sunday, party vice-president Mosiah Chinamano said today.

He said at least 21 ZAPU leaders had now been detained and he expected to be arrested himself along with others of his executive board. Smith in his speech had hinted at pending action against pro-guerrilla political groups inside Rhodesia.

There was no immediate word on whether supporters of the much smaller Peoples Movement — which is led by Mozambique-based Robert Mugabe, co-leader with Nkomo of the Patriotic Front guerrilla alliance — were also being rounded up.

On martial law, Smith said this might create as many problems as it solves but "with typical Rhodesian ingenuity we have adapted it to our own peculiar circumstances."

BANDIT HITS RESTAURANT

A masked bandit with a knife threatend a Bartholomew's restaurant employee before scooping up $8,000 and fleeing Sunday night.

Police so far have failed to turn up any suspects.

A staff member whose name is being witheld by police had just finished placing the cash in a bank deposit bag in the restaurant safe about 4 p.m. when the robber entered the office.

He wore a nylon stocking over his face and held a knife in his left hand. As he approached the employee he warned her not to move.

The bandit grabbed the deposit bag from the unlocked safe and fled on foot from the restaurant, located downstairs in the Executive House hotel at 777 Douglas St.

Police describe the suspect as being a white male, about five-foot 10-inches tall and 175 pounds.

Transit Strike Hits Toronto

Times News Services

TORONTO — Commuters in Canada's largest city bicycled, hitch-hiked, shared cars or walked to work today as transit drivers went on strike for the second time in four years in a contract dispute with the Toronto Transit Commission (TTC).

Some firms organized car pools for employees, but most workers were left to find their own way, stranded at home by the lack of public transportation.

Police reported "no complications" in early morning traffic, but feared the worst. A 23-day transit strike in 1974 jammed downtown traffic and caused a dramatic rise in reported sexual assaults on women hitchhikers by motorists.

Crucial to the dispute was the TTC's refusal to budge from its initial offer of a six-per-cent wage increase. The union has demanded about an eight-per-cent hike.

Ice Holes Camsell; Crew Safe

The Esquimalt-based icebreaker Camsell, holed on the port side and with a skeleton crew manning pumps, remained lodged in Arctic ice today east of Cambridge Bay.

The vessel was holed by ice early Sunday morning in the forward part of the engine room.

The engine room was flooded and the Camsell lost power.

The crew managed to get an emergency generator going in order to get the pumps working.

Department of Transport district manager Larry Slaght said today the supply vessel Broderick took three hours to get to the Camsell and on arrival, found the ice was so thick she was unable to dislodge the ship.

"There is no danger of it (Camsell) sinking but the situation is still critical," Slaght said.

None of the 50-strong crew was hurt.

At the time of the incident the Camsell had just finished escorting the Broderick and the tug Angus Sherwood. The Broderick was 30 miles away when the Camsell was holed.

The icebeaker John A. Macdonald, on charter to Dome Petroleum, was steaming to the scene and expected there about noon Wednesday.

In response to a May Day message from Camsell's master, Capt. Jack Lennie, a C-130 Hercles aircraft was despatched from CFB Namao, outside Edmonton, Sunday with extra pumps and four rescue specialists aboard.

Slaght said today that 29 of the Camsell's crew will be flown home on Tuesday. The remaining 21 are living aboard the Broderick and working on the Camsell.

He said ice conditions are particularly bad this year and Broderick and Camsell are eight-tenths surrounded by ice.

When the Macdonald arrives, it is planned to tow Camsell into a sheltered bay in order to ascertain what temporary repairs can be made, he said.

The time factor is also critical. Slaght said the Camsell must be towed to Point Barrow in the next two weeks before the polar pack moves in.

If the vessel is unable to make it by then, the Camsell will have to be winterized and stay in the Arctic putting her out of commission until the next season.

Opposition Deputies In Noisy Iran Walkout

Moshen Pezeshkpour, leader of the opposition Pan-Iranist party, and three colleagues left when the newly-appointed prime minister, Jaafar Sharif-Emani, attempted to present his new program.

The opposition deputies claimed Sharif-Emani's new government is illegal because it imposed martial law without sufficient grounds to do so.

At least four independent deputies in the 268-member parliament supported the walkout. Ahmed Bani-Ahmed, an independent, said he is observing a hunger strike until the new prime minister resigns.

Troops patrolled the capital Sunday, but all was quiet on the third day of martial law imposed to put down a civilian revolt. against the rule of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi.

The military governor of Tehran said military courts are being set up and persons convicted of acts against Iran's constitutional monarchy will be executed. He did not define those acts.

The government also imposed censorship on all news agency photographs transmitted out of the country.

An estimated 1,100 persons have been killed in anti-government protests so far this year, including at least 86 who died when troops fired on rioting demonstrators in Tehran on Friday.

The opposition to the shah, who has absolute power in the predominantly-Moslem country, is led by traditional Moslems who reject his liberalization program which includes granting of rights to women and land reform that transfers lands formerly owned by the clergy to rural residents. Also opposing the shah are leftists and an underground group the government calls Islamic Marxists.

Sharif-Emani, a devout Moslem, was appointed Aug. 27 to appease church leaders. He legalized participation of political parties in the government, closed gambling houses and shuffled his cabinet, but the protests of the shah's rule continued.

Highlights of his program, as presented to parliament, include exemption of agricultural products from all taxes, pay raises for all civil servants and tax breaks for those at the bottom of the pay scale, governmental non-interference in the judiciary, investigation of the source of wealth of rich government employees and universal suffrage elections. Currently, members of the outlawed Communist party cannot vote.

SIXTH DAY FOR SUMMIT

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — The Mideast summit, now in its sixth day, is moving ahead in fits and starts with no sign of a major breakthrough.

Although progress on some key issues has been reported by an official spokesman, there has been no formal conference of the three major summit participants since last Thursday.

BLOODY BEIRUT FIGHT IN FOURTH DAY

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Heavy fighting between Christian militiamen and Syrian troops raged into its fourth day today and a Christian group called a general strike to press demands that Syria withdraw from the divided country.

Rightist officials said at least nine people have died and another 200 have been injured in the latest round of fighting that erupted last Thursday night.

There was no official word on casualties from a steady stream of rocket, shell and machine gun exchanges that have devastated Beirut's southern and eastern neighborhoods.

Witnesses said anti-aircraft gunners, apparently Palestinians, Sunday opened fire on Israeli warplanes from positions 12 miles south of the capital but failed to hit them.

Israel sent its planes streaking over Beirut during the weekend to back up its frequent warnings to Syria not to begin new fighting.

In a desperate attempt to provide listeners with good news, an announcer on the state-run Beirut Radio hopefully suggested Monday that "the rains which fell on the capital today may be a good omen for Lebanon."

But the local English-language news bulletin, the Middle East Reporter, said, "it is going to take more than rain to wash away this country's problems."

A Christian religious group called a general strike Wednesday to "make the world listen" to Christian demands for the withdrawal of Syrian forces from Christian areas, the return of displaced persons to their homes and ending the mandate for the Syrian-dominated 30,000-man Arab League peacekeeping force in Lebanon. The mandate expires Oct. 28.

The call was issued by the Permanent Secretariat of the Lebanese Clergy, a group representing the Maronite League, the Roman Catholic Higher Council, the Greek Orthodox Lebanese League, the Syriac community and the Higher Council of the Syriac Orthodox.

The escalated violence in Beirut and strike call reflected the controversy that has grown up around possible renewal of the Arab force mandate.

President Elias Sarkis, thought to favor renewal of the mandate, presided over an emergency session of the Cabinet at the Baabda presidential palace that was expected to make what one government source termed "an urgent and thorough review of the security situation". The issue of the peacekeeping force was expected to be raised at the meeting.

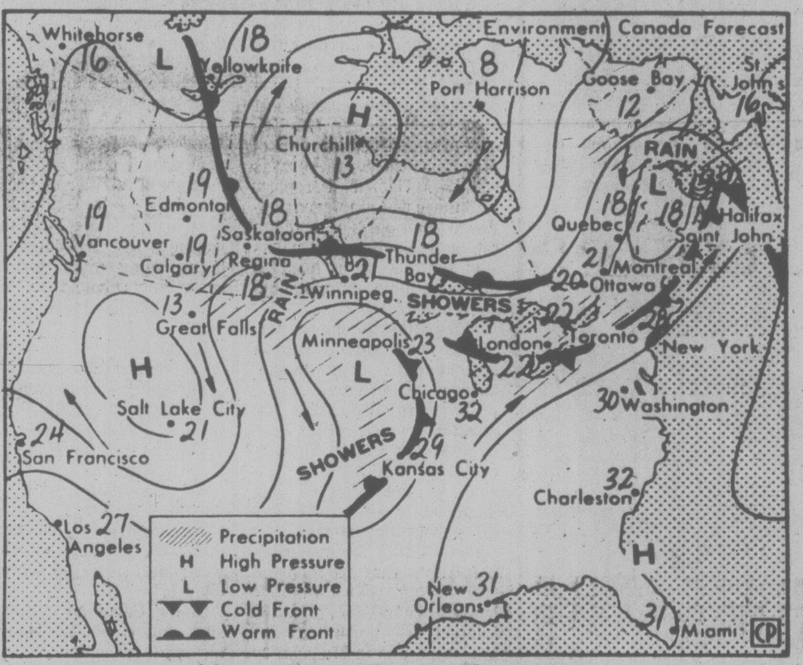

Map valid until noon Tuesday

Drier weather already over the north coast will spread to the southern B.C. coast later today and the interior will also see a gradual decrease in shower activity today, through Tuesday. There were numerous showers, some of them heavy, on the south coast and in the central interior overnight. However pressures are rising in the eastern Pacific and over western B.C. which will result in the building of a fairly decent high pressure ridge over the province by Tuesday. The ridge will start the return to sunshine on the south coast later today and in the interior on Tuesday.

FLOOD CLEANUP BEGINS

NEW DELHI (Reuter) — Floodwaters receded over most of India's Uttar Pradesh state today but worsened in neighboring Bihar where the Ganges River flooded several towns.

Cities along the Ganges and Jamuna Rivers, from New Delhi to the Hindu pilgrimage centres of Varanasi and Allahabad, began the huge task of cleaning up after the worst floods this century.

Malaria and diarrhoea epidemics have broken out in villages around Allahabad and mass vaccination and mosquito spraying campaigns are underway.

Nearly a third of Varanasi City, (Benares) is submerged and the worst may not be over for its half-million residents.

There was also serious flooding in villages near Varanasi, a 2,500-year-old holy centre famous for its burning ghats.

Real Rat Race

With Trainer Jim Clark urging him on to further exertions, Brando proved himself to be King Rat.

The rats were sponsored by groups or individuals, including several aldermen, who paid $100 to see their rodent run.

Ald. May Brown was at the track to handle her own racer, but proved to be a better politician than ratter. Her Lady's Choice came in last in the final heat.

Clark, 26, an area resident, had been volunteered as Brando's handler when the rat's sponsors didn't show.

Bozo Lalich, the starter and organizer, gave instructions and encouragement to the trainers: "You can encourage them, but no touching."

Quakes Scattered

Times News Services

Three strong earthquakes struck widely-scattered points of the earth at the weekend causing intense fright but little apparent damage and few injuries.

One shook Athens on Saturday night, authorities reported.

The Greek seismological service said the quake registered 4.8 on the open-ended Richter scale.

A strong quake also jolted large areas of Guatemala on Sunday, causing widespread panic but little damage and no casualties, police said.

Police said a few old masonry walls collapsed in Guatemala City but there were no reports of casualties or heavy damage in the capital or the provinces.

Thousands rushed out of packed movie theatres in Guatemalan City. Others left their homes and apartment buildings and stood in the streets, fearing aftershocks.

Guatemala was devastated by an earthquake in February, 1976, which killed more than 25,000 people, injured 70,000 and left about a million homeless.

Finally, a strong earthquake shook the Japanese Ryuku Islands, the National Meteorological Agency reported.

The agency said the quake registered four on the Japanese seven-point intensity scale on Miyako island east of Taiwan.

There were no immediate reports of any damage or injuries.

The agency said the epicentre of the quake was located off Miyako Island 40 kilometers beneath the Pacific.

Okinawa is the biggest of the Ryukus, which run between Taiwan and the southernmost main Japanese island of Kyushu.

Uneasy Union Truce Ended

VANCOUVER (CP) — An uneasy truce between the United Steelworkers of America and the rival Canadian Association of Industrial, Mechanical and Allied Workers (CAIMAW) has ended after a ruling by a grievance arbitration board on the issue of secondary picketing.

The British Columbia Federation of Labor, concerned about the harmful effect on unity when workers cross picket lines, developed a joint arrangement between the rival unions in a bid to win the industrial war against the Placer mining group in the B.C. Interior.

The arbitration board ruled recently that the Steelworkers local 6523 violated its contract with Craigmont Mines Ltd. at Merritt by refusing to cross a CAIMAW picket line last June.

The pickets came from Williams Lake where CAIMAW has been locked out of Placer's Gibraltar mine since May 26.

Monty Alton of the Steelworkers said the decision reaffirms his union's opinion that secondary picketing in the mining industry is completely ineffectual because supervisors can keep operating a mine.

Alton said, as a major member of the central labor movement, the Steelworkers can wage a mine strike by declaring "hot" any ore produced by supervisors. Other unionists then won't handle it and the mine has to either stockpile or shut down.

He said that, as an independent union, CAIMAW has not got this economic power.

In the aftermath of the decision, Alton claimed even CAIMAW's actions at Endako, where its own members work, have made "secondary picketing there a farce."

CAIMAW supokesman Peter Cameron responded, however, by charging that the Steelworkers' stand plays into the hands of the employers.

He described the Steelworkers' position as an attempt to undermine the locked out workers.

"Workers are workers whether they are part of the central labor movement or not," Cameron added.

Secondary picketing takes place when a union attempts to shut down a subsidiary or branch. The practice is regulated by the B.C. Labor Code under a section dealing with picketing of allies of a struck company.

However, the legality of such picketing is not always clear-cut and is subject to rulings stemming from complaints to the labor board or references to grievance arbitration.

Until now rulings have followed a pattern that if workers' refusal to cross a line is spontaneous, the labor contract is not necessarily contravened.

But, if the refusal is organized in advance, as it was at Craigmont, the contract is violated.

In the Craigmont case the company followed the grievance route and won. Along the way it agreed not to press for damages, but warned it won't be lenient if they same situation occurs again.

Alton was his union's nominee on the board and submitted a minority report.

AERIAL GREETINGS in form of 500 balloons were released by children and other members of Emmanuel Baptist Church Sunday. Each balloon bore message 'God Loves You' and urged finders to write to church saying how and where balloons were found. Church promised to send out a gift for each letter received with a special prize going to person who writes from greatest distance. Victoria Leads the World: Ney

All in all, the inner tube festivities were pronounced a great success.

RACES

Men's doubles: First, Ellis and Salmond; second, Stew Young and Martin Sabell; third, Ted Izard and Stephen Donaldson.

Mixed doubles: First, Clayton and Braithwaite; second, Phil Hoen and Donna Stevenson; third, brother and sister team of Ross and Karen Dyson.

PARADE

Entries were judged on float decoration and costumes.

Men's doubles: First, Dave Turner and Chuck Filtness for turning their Volkswagen into a replica of the HMS Discovery; second, Neil Salmond and Brian Ellis for an outer space theme.

Mixed doubles: First, Andy and Shirley Burgess, also for an HMS Discovery float, which also became the float used by parade marshal Ney in his bathtub admiral's costume; second, an entry who identified themselves only as Old Timer and Wapoose in buckskins.

Women's doubles: First, Wilma Morris and Cisco Martin of Moose Camp for a car covered in tubes and balloons; second, Wendy Emery and Rita McIntyre who were dressed as bees.

SPECIAL AWARDS

Furthest entry: After discussion between two teams from England, it was discovered that Knocker White and Spike Hughes had edged Max Bygraves and Jerry Rimmer. White and Hughes won trophies while Bygraves and Rimmer were given runner-up medallions.

All presentations were made by Capt. Cook. Contestants placing first also got Capt. Cook Bicentennial trophies.

White and Hughes, who finished about 40th, drew cheers of "Come on Spike, come on Knocker!" as they easily outdistanced the other British entry Bygraves and Rimmer (who avoided being last) in a special challenge. All are from the visiting British cruiser HMS Blake.

Entry fees for Knocker and Spike had been paid for by Provincial Secretary Grace McCarthy.

"Mrs. McCarthy sounds like a very nice person," Knocker White said. "I hope to meet her before we leave British Columbia. We have to leave Victoria to go on manoeuvres but we will be going to Vancouver on Sept. 26 for 10 days. Maybe I will see her there."

It was his first visit to B.C. and he found Victoria "a lot like home except things are spread out more here — there's more room. I love it here. And the race was a lot of fun, a real laugh."

Ney called the Great Inner Tube Race: "An epic saga of raw courage."

The large turnout, he said, proves Victoria prefers corn to culture on a Sunday afternoon.

"Actually the secret of this is that so many people can participate. People would rather attend something that they can be part of. Nanaimo may lead the world in bathtub seamanship but it is clear that Victoria leads the world in rubber products technology."

Contestants representing Old British Fish and Chips made a spectacular entrance into the parade grounds on a double decker bus. They arrived whooping and hollering and then all 30 people aboard were piped to the registration desk behind a Union Jack.

The two British teams from HMS Blake responded by waving a huge white naval ensign.

Capt. Cook proclaimed the festival open on behalf of Premier Bennett and Mrs. McCarthy at noon and the parade moved off.

There were 314 contestants, 72 in women's doubles, 50 in mixed doubles and the rest in men's doubles for the fifth annual event.

Everybody was grateful for the sunshine but the paddlers would have preferred to have the stiff breeze at their backs.

Some girl competitors in bikinis and other flimsy costumes reported the water was warm enough once you got wet.

Some paddlers found they kept sliding off the tube, which often resulted in tipping their partner into the water as well. Some of the tubes were huge and getting back on was difficult.

Closest finish was for third spot in men's doubles with three teams arriving almost at the same time.

There were still eight teams paddling in the Gorge at 3:15 p.m. when the awards ceremony started.

Thousands of hamburgers and hot dogs were sold by Kinsmen at 45 cents and 30 cents respectively and some senior citizens said it was the best food bargain they had seen in years.

Hampton Park Hustlers spokesman Bob Painton said the Tubers Ball Saturday night drew 300 people and the events of Great Inner Tube Race day "went off very well, everything was great!"

He thanked the Victoria Times and trophy sponsors for their support. He also thanked police, firemen, and St. John Ambulance crews who stood by.

DAVIS GUILTY OF FRAUD

Judge Anderson heard final arguments Aug. 18 and Allan McEachern, representing Davis, told the court that the former minister was entitled to the refunds in the same way a minister is entitled to the unused portion of his daily expense allowance.

McEachern earlier said Davis had converted first-class air tickets to economy tickets and had kept refunds of about $1,000.

He said his defence of Davis was based on a 1917 provincial law which makes provision for fixing a scale of allowances to be paid members of the public service while travelling.

Crown prosecutor John Hall said such an interpretation of the statute was bizarre because it would mean members of the cabinet could make money on the side by exchanging airline tickets.

WASH. FERRY BLOCKADED

FRIDAY HARBOR, Wash. (AP) — A blockade by about 40 fishing boats Sunday delayed for 25 minutes the departure of the Washington state ferry Kaleetan, a ferry official said.

The fishermen were protesting regulations adopted to enforce a 1974 federal court ruling, which held that treaty Indians must be allowed to catch up to half the harvestable salmon and steelhead migrating past their ancestral fishing grounds. No arrests were made.

Ferry system spokesman Newell Hunter said the Kaleetan was on a regularly scheduled run from the San Juan Islands to Anacortes, Wash., with 70 vehicles and about 200 passengers on board.

Coast Guard spokesman Paul Scotti said a cutter was present to clear a path for the ferry if the fishermen refused to move, but the boats dispersed voluntarily.

Hoffa Shredded, Says New Book

NEW YORK (AP) — A new book says former Teamsters union president Jimmy Hoffa was shredded, compacted and incinerated in a machine that also was used to dispose of at least 10 other mob victims.

Author Steven Brill claims in The Teamsters that the incinerator story is supported by FBI files, but an FBI spokesman said Sunday in Washington that the agency looked into the incinerator theory and "discounted it."

When Hoffa disappeared in 1975 he was attempting to regain control of the Teamsters union after serving a prison term.

Brill says New Jersey Teamsters boss Anthony "Tony Pro" Provenzano, who is in prison for his conviction in the killing of a union rival, set up the killing of Hoffa. But Brill attributes the order for Hoffa's killing to Russell Bufalino, a reputed mob leader in upstate New York and northeastern Pennsylvania.

Bufalino and other alleged mob figures wanted to prevent Hoffa from coming to power again in the union, Brill says. Bufalino is serving a four-year prison term in an extortion case involving a death threat to collect $25,000 owed to a jeweller.

Brill also says that FBI documents show that Frank Fitzsimmons, who succeeded Hoffa as head of the Teamsters, was seen "at a clandestine meeting" with Central Sanitation Services, owners of the incinerator, a week before Hoffa disappeared.

Provenzano is serving a life sentence for the murder of another Teamster rival, Anthony "Three Fingers" Castellito.

The Detroit Free Press reported in its Sunday editions that Brill's version of Hoffa's death is based in part on the so-called "Hoffex Memo," compiled by the FBI and other investigators of Hoffa's disappearance.

He Had to Resign

John Munro did the only thing he could on Friday. He quit.

The former federal labor minister should be given much credit for resigning quickly once it became known he had made a telephone call to an Ontario provincial court judge on behalf of a constituent. Unlike some other former cabinet ministers, he did not have to be pushed screaming and kicking out the door by combined pressure from the opposition and his own party. As a result, he left with most of his personal dignity intact and with his party not suffering from another scandal like the Judges' Affair of 1976.

The resignation seems a harsh punishment for a two-minute mistake; yet it is clear Munro really had no option but to quit and Prime Minister Trudeau had no option but to accept the resignation. No one has suggested Munro had any ulterior motive in phoning the judge to offer a "character reference" for a constituent who was to be sentenced for assault.

But, as Munro knows perfectly well as a lawyer, the procedure for becoming a character reference is to go to court, testify on a person's behalf, in public and in a situation where one's testimony is subject to cross-examination. The procedure is not to phone up the judge hastily to tell him that the person he is about to sentence is really a fine fellow.

Also Munro was more aware than most of the problems of cabinet ministers telephoning judges because he was part of the cabinet during the Judges Affair fiasco. At that time Trudeau made it abundantly clear to his cabinet that none of them were ever to phone up judges, nor indeed to approach judges in any way except formally through the justice department.

Munro's excuse that he thought the rules didn't apply in his case because he was phoning about a sentencing rather than an actual trial is weak in the extreme.

Over-all Munro's crime was not one of immorality. It was one of thoughtlessness and atrocious lack of judgment. It is quite impossible that someone so thoughtless and lacking in judgment should stay a member of the group that is supposedly running the country.

All the same, Munro will be a loss to the cabinet. He has achieved considerable success in improving labor relations in the federal sector, his latest triumph being his personal intervention which ended the Air Canada dispute less than a month ago. He has earned the respect of national labor leaders, something remarkably difficult for a Trudeau Liberal to do. And he had begun, albeit tentatively and slowly, the first steps towards developing alternatives to the traditional labor-management confrontation, alternatives that involved labor, business and government working together for the good of the country's economy as a whole.

It is to be hoped that Munro's successor, whoever he may be, will be able to maintain the gains that Munro was achieving in the labor portfolio while not exhibiting the thoughtlessness that led to Munro's downfall.

Don't Stir Up the Pot

Everyone knows that labor negotiations in the public sector are going to be extremely difficult this fall, but there's really no need for any of those involved to go around stirring up the pot as the B.C. Teachers Federation did last week.

The provincial teachers' body announced to anyone who would listen that it thinks its locals should be asking for wage increases of between 10 and 12 per cent in 1979. The B.C. School Trustees Association promptly fell right into the teachers' trap by condemning this suggestion as "outrageous and unrealistic," thereby ensuring that teacher-trustee talks are going to begin on a bad note.

It already seems clear that in public sector labor talks this fall, we may have the irresistable force meeting the immovable object. On one side will be the workers — teachers, municipal employees and others — saying quite reasonably that they are tired of falling behind and want pay increases that will at least equal the inflation rate of eight or nine per cent a year. On the other side will be the elected officials, faced with increasing hostility from their taxpayers and quite unable and unwilling to agree to any wage settlements that would mean an automatic increase of eight to 10 per cent in taxes.

What the final result of this conflict will be is anything but clear. What is clear is the fact that the greatest possible levels of tolerance, understanding and reasonableness will be needed by both sides to find any way out of the impasse at all.

None of the groups involved should begin by making strong statements that will do nothing but harden attitudes. Far better to do as the Victoria teachers and trustees have done and say only that they are hopeful a reasonable solution can be worked out through negotiations.

PETER HADEKEL

Boy Wonder in PQ Cabinet

QUEBEC — Pierre-Marc Johnson, the 31-year-old boy wonder in the Quebec cabinet, is already being touted as the eventual successor to Rene Levesque at the top of the Parti Quebecois.

He has brains, charm and determination. But above all he has the sharp political instincts he inherited from his late father Daniel Johnson, premier of Quebec in the Union nationale government from 1966 to 1969.

Pierre-Marc Johnson was given one of the toughest portfolios in the government when he was named labor minister just over a year ago.

The job had been a political graveyard for his two predecessors, Liberal Gerald Harvey and Pequiste Jacques Couture. But he has handled it with surprising aplomb.

He has proven to be a fast learner. But that is nothing new for the talented Johnson who had become both a lawyer and a doctor by the age of 30.

Improved Climate

After the tumultous relationship between the Bourassa government and the union movement, labor relations in Quebec today seem almost civilized under his stewardship.

"I think we've made honest progress in improving the climate," says Johnson who has established a reputation as a solid administrator.

"Quebec still has double the man-days lost in strikes per year that Ontario does. But if you look in terms of relative position within Quebec there has been a remarkable progress over preceding years."

Johnson says that in 1977, 1.3 million man-days were lost in both the public and private sectors compared to more than 6 million lost in 1976.

Although expired collective agreements in the public sector accounted for much of the strike record in 1976, he notes that in the private sector alone more than 4 million man-days were lost.

Johnson admits the PQ government has "a favorable preconception" towards workers. "There are many people from organized labor in our party, we know people from organized labor which is more than the Liberal party could say."

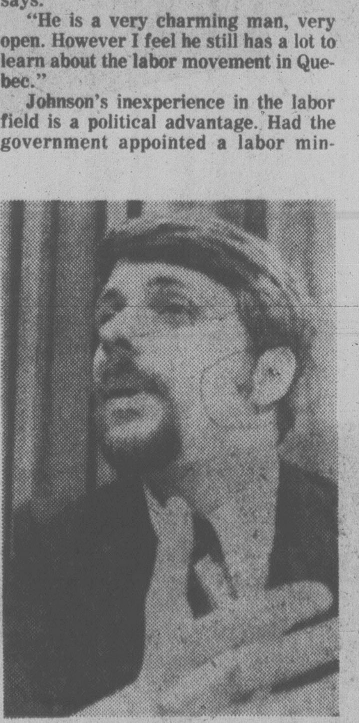
There are other reasons for the improved climate of labor relations in Quebec. Wage controls and the deteriorating economic situation have had the effect of limiting strike action, the labor minister admits.

Confederation of National Trade Unions vice-president Andre L'Heureux, one of Quebec's most intractable union leaders, says Johnson's work has been "positive."

"We're still waiting for some things in the PQ program to be implemented, but Johnson's intentions seem good," he says.

"He is a very charming man, very open. However I feel he still has a lot to learn about the labor movement in Quebec."

Johnson's inexperience in the labor field is a political advantage. Had the government appointed a labor minister with strong links to the union movement such as Parliamentary Reform Minister Robert Burns or Speaker Clement Richard there would have been added pressure on the government for pro-union reforms.



PIERRE-MARC JOHNSON
. . . has improved labor relations

But Johnson's relative "conservatism" has reassured the business community and lowered the expectations of union leaders.

The labor minister's main achievement so far has been a bill prohibiting use of outside workers by a company during a legal strike or lockout.

The bill also guarantees workers the right to recover their jobs after a strike makes payment of union dues compulsory and allows the government to impose a first contract during strikes over union recognition.

The labor minister became embroiled in a national controversy earlier this year when new Quebec hiring regulations went into effect.

The regulations, designed to eliminate moonlighters from the Quebec construction industry and give priority to local manpower in the various regions of the province, had the effect of restricting Ontario workers from Quebec construction sites.

"The debate in Ontario became completely overemotional . . . even hysterical," he says. "It has been presented as the big bad separatists making this regulation but it has absolutely no relation to the fact we are an independentist government."

Within Quebec, he has been criticized for being too political in his handling of some issues. A recent study done for the government by an independent economist stated that Quebec's high minimum wage has cost the province between 25,000 and 42,000 jobs, yet Johnson put out a press release claiming the study showed the minimum wage had no effect on unemployment.

Learned Lessons Well

Another study done for him on the explosive problem of asbestosis was severely criticized for its methodology. The study seemed to minimize the danger of asbestosis at a time when the government is preparing to get into the asbestos business itself.

The glib, self-assured way in which Johnson turns reporters questions into answers that reflect well on the government shows he learned his political lessons well from his father.

What significance did the strong Quebec nationalism of Daniel Johnson have on his own pro-independence convictions?

"My father was a nationalist . . . it would be dishonest to say he was an independentist. But he also wrote the words "equality or independence."

"He was very concerned that following generations, including mine, should be able to make that choice if it wanted to.

"He had much esteem for Canadians from outside Quebec as I do. My problem is not having a beef with the rest of Canada, it's having one hell of a beef with the central government."

Sidney Growth

Reports that "uncontrolled development" in Sidney may "now have reached the bottom line" should not go without being challenged, and some attempt must be made to clarify what is actually going on.

In spite of statements saying that since the advent of the water pipeline development has been unsystematic, and unorganized, it should be made quite clear that Sidney has been using the community plan — a plan that was well thought out, and primarily designed to promote an orderly growth at the time that sufficient water became a reality. It is a plan that has been reviewed several times both by the present council and the past councils and considered perfectly adequate.

Recent comments being bandied about predicting Sidney becoming a "cement jungle", a "ghetto", with "unorganized and uncontrolled growth" are sensational, and politically eye-catching, but without foundation and misleading, to say the least.

Sidney has been designed as a viable trading centre for the Saanich peninsula, as well as a pleasant urban community in which to live, and is no longer the quiet rural area it used to be, but people still want to live here.

Sidney's growth is firmly in the hands of municipal council, with a good community plan, and competent municipal staff to assist in making decisions. It is my opinion that as long as local government resists any pressures to increase the population of the town to more than 14,000 people, a revised community plan costing up to $20,000 is entirely unnecessary.

I believe that the fate of Sidney is in good hands; a council so varied in opinion and philosophy that decisions are never made without due consideration, and lively debate. — Ald. James Lang, Sidney.

Mad Hatter

Our prime minister recently told us in the course of a cozy chat that we we were overspending and cutbacks would have to be made in federal government spending. The very next day we were told that a long term loan of millions of dollars was being made to Panama. Recently we were also told that an outright grant was being made to a far eastern country of millions of dollars to combat the effects of some bug. Since Mr. Trudeau came into power billions of dollars have been given to foreign countries either in the form of outright grants or long term, no interest loans, which the government admits there is little or no chance of collecting.

Your paper announce that the federal government incurred a spending deficit for the first nine months of the 1977-78 fiscal year of $6.2 billion which is almost equal to the total deficit of last year which was $6.3 billion. We now have a total national debt of $15 billion on which we pay $1 million a day in interest.

The remarkable thing about all this is that there are no protests from the opposition. Is that because they are not informed as to the money given away by the Liberals? These huge amounts are freely given out by your paper. Is there no regulating body to say whether our money can be given to any foreign country? If not why not? We seem to have an abundance of regulating bodies where we do not want them, such as marketing boards which increase the cost of food to the consumers.

It seems to me that we have a Mad Hatter in Ottawa who is doing his damndest to depreciate the Canadian dollar to its lowest ebb and cause inflation. Is it deliberate? I only know that if it was a business he was managing, he would have been out on his ear long ago.

It is, of course, easy to criticize, and to be constructive one should have something to offer to remedy the situation. I suggest that instead of selling the Central Housing and Mortgaging Corporation which is one of the few federal government projects which is profitable why not use the money which is being given away with no return by making available to everyone mortgages of 7½ per cent for construction. This would increase building, increase employment and give the government a return on its investment.

It is time for someone to do something before we all go down the drain along with our money. I feel like a voice in the wilderness crying out with no one to hear. Is there someone out there who is able and willing do do something about it all? — George S. Lee, 215-566 Simcoe Street.

Not Christianity

For some considerable time the Grand Orange Lodge of Canada, whose membership belongs to most of the major Protestant church denominations, has been watching the various activities of the World Council of Churches (WCC), and we view with alarm and concern its financial support of various illegal activities of guerrilla and other terrorist organizations throughout the world.

The most recent contribution of $85,000 to a terrorist organization known as the Patriotic Front in Rhodesia is appalling, to say the least and, in our opinion, does very little to enhance the cause of Christianity.

We note a program was launched in 1969 to combat racism, which received an initial $150,000 from the WCC, plus a special reserve fund of $200,000, and an additional $300,000 from an appeal to member churches. In 1970, the WCC began giving grants to groups that combatted racism; some $135,000 went to African "liberation" (terrorist) movements. It supported FRELIMO in Mozambique, the Marxist MPLA in Angola (which the Cubans pushed to power), and it has helped finance ZAPU and ZANU guerrilla movements in Rhodesia (ZANU committed the most recent atrocities against missionaries).

Christians the world over will feel a very real concern that portions of their church contributions have been used to promote and sustain such terrorist activities.

On behalf of the 100,000 members of the Loyal Orange Association in Canada, we wish to officially register our protest and displeasure with the World Council of Churches, and urge that it give very serious consideration to abandoning any future political activity in the area of promoting guerrilla warfare at the expense of human lives. We feel there are ample problems facing the Christian church today for the WCC to solve, without the necessity of participating in international political arenas. — Norman R. Ritchie, Grand Secretary, Grand Orange Lodge of Canada, Willowdale, Ont.

Who Did It?

In reference to Mrs. McCarthy's news announcement re: films being brought to B.C., and therefore bringing business to B.C, I'd like to ask her this question: Who was responsible in setting up these connections? Could it have been due to the work by our recently fired co-ordinator, Mr. Wolfgang Richter? — Mrs. Maria McKeachie, 1519 Glen Lake Road.

Need New Library

The remarks of Mr. E. D. Ward-Harris in his article on the library problem (Sept. 2) are not only true but sound common sense.

As a member of the library board, he has quoted a few statistics which should make the City of Victoria (and the city fathers in particular) feel ashamed.

For a large proportion of the Victoria population reading is not just a casual amusement — it is a way of life. References to age group figures might well reveal that a sizable section of the community is of retirement age and beyond, for whom reading is a cultural necessity and it is their right to have that need reasonably satisfied.

Then, there are the younger people, students who need works of reference and specialist volumes. Most of the other Canadian cities afford these facilities in no small measure. Why can't we?

Perhaps the most important people of all are the children. In these days of television and other outside attractions, anything that can be done to encourage a child to pick up a book and read should be done without hesitation. Give a child (or indeed an adult) a taste for reading and the means of gratifying it and you place him in touch with the greatest minds and the greatest thoughts that have inhabited the world in this or any other age. You make him a citizen of all nations and, in doing so, provide him with mental equipment that will enhance the quality of his own life and add to the spiritual and cultural qualities of mankind in general.

If, the Vox Populi which — on the subject of libraries — has been crying unheard for some time, is to be disregarded, then where is the ultimate sanction?

Compare, for example, the central library in Victoria with that in Edmonton. The Edmonton library could well be taken as a model for something really worth while in Victoria. I don't think we need to spend as much money on the venture as Edmonton has apparently done but, at least, we could learn something from the way public libraries are run in Alberta.

We need a new central library in Victoria and a complete overhaul of the branches particularly in regard to the obsolete and inadequate shelving arrangements.

It is surely sound sense to realize this now and, not only move the existing central library to rented premises in Broughton Street but concurrently to set in motion plans for the construction of a new library in downtown Victoria which will be the pride of the city and the envy of all western Canada. — Frank A. Burridge, 207-1144 Rockland Avenue.

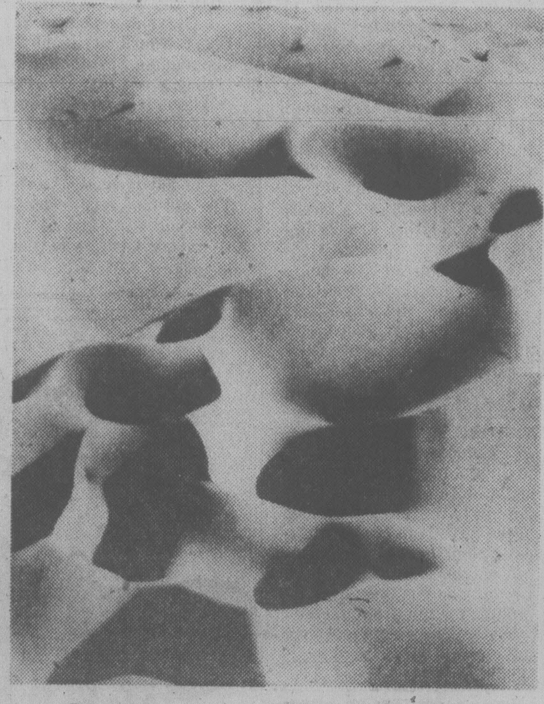
Petro Cities To Spring From Bleak Saudi Soil



Desert terrain in Saudi Arabia

YANBU, Saudi Arabia — A thick, salty blanket of haze and 130-degree temperatures make the desert surrounding this 800-year-old town on the Red Sea one of the more forbidding places on the globe.

In the days when Egypt's Moslem pilgrims were travelling to Medina and Mecca by boat, the merchants of Yanbu lived in oriental mansions of coral bricks with hand-carved Indonesian shutters and doors. Now the pilgrims fly to Jeddah, 220 miles south of here, and bulldozers are knocking down the coral houses.

Local entrepreneurs watched the world pass them by after the Suez Canal was closed by war. Land values dropped to 70 cents per square metre. Today, those same Yanbu businessmen are hustling downtown plots for $700 per square metre.

Saudi Arabia is building an industrial city in Yanbu. A patch of coastal land only a scorpion could love, some 15 miles long and 4½ miles wide, is being transformed.

Three seaports are to be built here. One will deliver 1.6 million barrels of crude oil daily to a fleet of the world's largest ships for transport to Europe through either the Suez Canal or the Sumed pipeline in Egypt. Another will load freighters with refined pretroleum products, propane, fertilizers, sulfuric acid and the myriad products of a giant petrochemical complex. A third will become a terminal for imports of food and other commodities for a metropolitan area of nearly 250,000 people. (The old town's population now is 21,000.)

Larger City Due

Yet Yanbu is only the lesser — for the moment — of two new energy cities in Saudi Arabia. Eight hundred miles to the east, on the Persian Gulf, the Saudis are creating the city of Jubail. Because Jubail's desert landscape shields the world's largest known reserves of oil, the city will, for the rest of this century, have more factories, more exports and more people than Yanbu.

Yanbu will play a vital role in Saudi Arabia's plans for defence and economic security, because it will free the kingdom from dependence on the Persian Gulf for all its oil exports. There are no known oil fields here. The 500,000 tons of steel pipe now stacked outside of town will, in a few weeks, begin to form two 750-mile arteries across the Arabian Peninsula — one for crude oil, one for natural gas — that will give Saudi Arabia its first Red Sea outlet for petroleum exports.

But the geology maps of the Arabian Shields, the 5,000-foot-high mountain range that separates Yanbu from the Moslem holy city of Medina, are dotted with ore symbols: iron, gold, lead, sulfur, copper, chromium, mica. The Saudis are hoping Yanbu will become the heart of a mining area and carry the country's export economy into the 21st century.

Other countries look at the Saudi oil reserves of 150 billion barrels as an enviable, almost endless supply of energy and wealth. Saudi Arabia plans for the day some 80 years from now when oil begins to run out. Few nations are as serious about their planning.

Saudi Arabia's 1975-1980 five-year plan carried an original price tag of $142 billion. The 1980-1985 five-year plan, much of it built around Jubail and Yanbu, will probably cost as much.

$40 Billion Outlay

The infrastructure work at Jubail and Yanbu — roads, ports, pipelines and so on — will probably run to more than $40 billion. And the industrial plants themselves will involve enormous sums.

The key to the success of both cities is a $14 billion natural gas collection system under construction in the Eastern Province. The system will gather 3.29 billion cubic feet of gas per day to provide energy for Jubail and Yanbu. Today the gas is burned as waste — "flared" — from the kingdom's oil fields. The flared gas, according to Nazer, is worth $1.4 billion a year.

Construction of the natural gas pipeline linking Yanbu with the Eastern Province is scheduled to start later this year.

Meanwhile, huge trucks will start rumbling across the Arabian Peninsula in the next few weeks carrying 80-foot lengths of the crude oil pipeline. The pipe, made in Japan, France and Italy, is being welded and baked with epoxy each night in what one construction official has called "the world's largest welding shop." The pipe must be heated to 400 degrees to take the epoxy that will protect it once buried beneath the desert, and the welders can tolerate the heat only at night.

Floating Factory

Moored in the Red Sea is an odd vessel named the Yanbu. Built and manned by Japanese, it is a floating water desalination factory, capable of producing 500,000 gallons of drinking water daily.

About 1,000 construcion workers live at the Yanbu industrial site, with more arriving all the time. Six hundred South Koreans are building a housing complex for construction workes that will have a 1984 population of 28,000.

Crews will soon arrive to begin work on an oil export teminal, four permanent desalination factories, an 11-berth cargo port, trash, sewage and industrial wastewater plants, and the nucleus of a new city that should have 75,000 residents in eight years. Other crews will build an airport and a telecommunications system that will bring the rest of the world within reach of a Yanbu telephone.

Saudi Arabia's major oil industry partner at Yanbu is Mobil, which will share the ownership and costs of a refinery and a petrochemical plant. Mobil's optimism is shared by Shell, Exxon, Dow Chemical and Mitsubishi, which are Saudi Arabia's partners in the first major projects in Jubail.

Rough Day in Court for Pigs: Why, They Don't Even Grunt!

By COLMAN McCARTHY
Washington Post

Pigs had another rough day. Justice John Paul Stevens, in the majority opinion of the Supreme Court on a case involving free speech and dirty words, said that when the Federal Communications Commission "finds that a pig has entered the parlor, the exercise of its regulatory power does not depend on proof that the pig is obscene."

I leave it to others to debate the court's ruling. But I want to deal with this latest injudicious slam against pigs.

Since the 1850s, we have slandered the police by calling them pigs. Women catch it, too. In a James T. Farrell novel, a Chicago lad, speaking of his girl friend, says "I got to pick up the pig at seven." To overeat is to be piggish. To be stubborn is to be pigheaded. To drink cheap whisky is to like pig sweat. Sloppy housewives have kitchens like pig pens. To say something is impossible is to say "in a pig's eye." As for the improbable, a sow's ear can't be made into a silk purse.

Pigs are clean, almost to the point of fanatical hygiene. Even if you never had my luck to work in a pig sty, the Encyclopaedia Britannica has the facts: "Contrary to general opinion, the pig is a clean animal if given sanitary surroundings."

Pigs are not obscene, as the Supreme Court suggest. Unlike dogs, cats, horses and, least of all, rabbits or minks, pigs have sexual natures that are boringly monogamous. Most of America's 67 million pigs have become adulterous by the demands of their agribusiness owners and the rise and the falls of the pork-belly market.

Pigs are intelligent. Studies rank their brainpower above even the darling of the wildlife lobby, the porpoise. We have made stereophonic records of porpoises talking among themselves, but I am waiting for an album of pig talk. In my farm days, and when I listened carefully, I learned that pigs are skilled and lively communicators . . . They squeal like frail women when frightened by mice. When annoyed or frustrated, they snort like rush-hour drivers blocked in traffic. After a happy meal of fresh corn, they belch like beer drinkers . . . As for grunts, pigs don't. Gorillas grunt. But not pigs.

Most endearing of all about pigs is that they are carefree optimists. If it rains, they look forward to the sensualities of the mudhole. If hit by the blaze of a summer sun, they are happy to sleep and get fat. Even when they are being loaded onto the vans headed for the slaughter house, they bound up the ramps expecting a joyride, not a death trip.

The Supreme Court and most others aside, pigs do have a few friends of note. One is E. B. White, whose essay Death of a Pig is as memorable a piece of prose ever written about a pet. Another is William Hedgepeth, who wrote The Hog Book earlier this year. After documenting the bright, brave, merry and loyal ways of the pig, Hedgepeth makes the cast that, of all our animals, here is one beast that should be the most appreciated: "Man, for his part, gets the whole hog. With other animals, domestication is not nearly so demanding. For receiving approximately the same benefits as a hog is provided, the cow is called upon to donate milk; the sheep trades wool; the chicken lays eggs; the horse supplies locomotion, and the dog offers up a certain servile sycophancy which is translated as loyalty . . . But the hog gives his all — with no exceptions."

Except for Jersey cows, I enjoy the exquisite company of pigs more than any of nature's beasts. If city zoning laws were more rational, I would rent a pig for my backyard. As it is, I do what I can for these innocents by passing out the White essay, especially among those who most need to read it: the unenlightened who eat bacon for breakfast, ham sandwiches for lunch or pork chops for dinner. It is not so much that people don't appreciate the pig but that the appreciation occurs at the wrong place — the table instead of the sty.

U.K. EXPERTS HAVE BLUEPRINT

Earthlings Headed for Stars?

Special to the Times

U.S. space shuttle . . . shape of fantastic things to come

The year is 2080.

America's space shuttle Enterprise has long been replaced by a larger winged craft named Argo, flown by men and women from 12 nations.

Argo is out beyond the moon, following the unseen tracks of another spacecraft, almost 500 million miles away.

On the moon itself, giant antennas operated by the Lunar Astronomical Observatory silently track the same spacecraft.

Suddenly, electronic signals pour in from deep space. The men and women on the moon and aboard Argo grin broadly and shake hands. Project Daedalus has begun. The first starship built by the people of earth has left the orbit of Jupiter and is on its way out of the solar system.

Project Daedalus is the dead-serious brainchild of some of the best brains in the British Interplanetary Society. Thirteen of them, to be precise — all professionals in the British rocket and aircraft establishment, who put in more than 10,000 man-hours in the last five years to blueprint what they describe as the first workable flight to a nearby star.

The final report describing Project Daedalus has just been printed by the British Interplanetary Society (BIS) and it is a serious and scholarly work.

You can't build a starship without a star to fly to and so the BIS has chosen Barnard's Star, a dwarf star smaller, cooler and older than our sun, that lies almost six light years from earth.

Barnard's Star is not the nearest star to our solar system. Alpha Centauri is closer. But Barnard's Star wobbles about the heavens in a way that strongly suggests it supports a solar system of its own that takes in as many as six planets.

Getting to Barnard's Star won't be easy.

World-Wide Task

The BIS never estimates what Daedalus will cost, except to say it will be too much for a single nation or even a group of nations. The whole earth must agree to build a starship.

Of course, there will be no people aboard the starship Daedalus. As close as Barnard's Star is to earth, it will still take 50 years to get there and when it gets there it will never return. It will just speed by the star and its companion planets (if it has any) and survive long enough to radio back its findings to earth before silently disappearing into the void.

Even getting to Barnard's Star in 50 years is going to take a brand-new means of propulsion, one that will take the starship to its target at an unheard of speed of 22,000 miles a second. That's 12 percent of the speed of light.

There is only one way a starship can reach that kind of speed. It must use a means of propulsion that makes use of the energy released by tiny hydrogen bombs — a pulsed thermonuclear rocket, which ignites thermonuclear bombs behind it, then uses the enormous energies released in the explosions to propel it.

The trouble with this is you need a fuel made of helium three to sustain these high explosions, which exists only in the atmosphere of the planet Jupiter. The BIS suggests that the Daedalus spacecraft be assembled there, and then the helium-three could be "mined" by robots out of the Jovian atmosphere at the same time.

Invested with executive authority, computers would make all the decisions on the 50-year flight to the star. Not one human decision would be made once Daedalus left the environs of Jupiter. The reason is simple. By the time Daedalus encounters its star, the time it takes for a signal to reach the starship from earth will be 12 years. Even a simple decision like a change in course will have to be made by computer.

Chance of Life

The main reason for going to Barnard's Star and not other nearby stars like Wolf's Star or Sirius or Alpha Centauri is astronomers' suspicion that there may be planets in orbit around Barnard's Star. What better triumph would there be than for Daedalus but to examine the planets up close, send photographs of them back to earth and, possibly, even discover some form of life on one of the planets.

The BIS has devised a beguiling scheme for Daedalus to do all this. The starship will carry two enormous telescopes, which will scan the region around Barnard's Star, starting when the starship is 10 years away from it. If and when the telescopes spot the planets, their number and location will be pinpointed by the starship's computer. Course changes will be made. Instrumented probes will be deployed from the starship, each of them targeted for the planets in orbit around the star.

When the starship reaches the star, it will speed by 22,000 miles a second without slowing down. Its instruments will be whirring away, taking measurements and pictures that will be stored away in its computers. The 50-year voyage will end in an encounter that lasts less than a day.

For two years after the starship passes beyond the star, it will send back a steady flood of information on where it's been, what it's seen and how much it learned. When the coded signals reach the solar system, they will be intercepted by an enormous relay satellite placed in orbit around the planet Jupiter. The relay satellite will pass the information on to earth, where the grandchildren of the people who started it all will be waiting to receive it.

Will it be worth waiting for? The BIS thinks so and passes judgment on it in an oblique way.

"If we are unwilling to commit many generations to an interstellar voyage in an 'ark-type' vehicle," they say, "then mankind may be destined to orbit this small yellow star until it dwindles."

'Now that's Triple Crown'.

FBI Agent Set with 'Bombs'

DALLAS (UPI) — Saying he would "drop bombs" if called to testify publicly on what he knows about the assassination of President Kennedy, an FBI agent claims congressional investigators do not want him to tell the true story.

"If they are going to try and contain this (assassination investigation) like the Church (Senate Intelligence) committee and the Warren Comission, they don't want me up there," FBI agent James P. Hosty was quoted as saying in a copyrighted article in the Dallas Morning News.

Hosty said he would "drop bombs" if called to testify during the House Assassinations Committe's public hearings, but he doubted if he would be called because "I'm sure ... they know everything ... the whole story."

Hosty, whose name, automobile licence and telephone number were found in Lee Harvey Oswald's personal notebook upon his arrest following Kennedy's death, was the FBI agent in Dallas who monitored Oswald's activities before the Nov. 22, 1963, assassination.

Transferred in 1964 to the, Kansas City, Mo., FBI office where he now is approaching retirement, Hosty also is the agent quoted in a top-level agency memo issued hours after the president's death as saying the FBI had known Oswald was capable of killing Kennedy.

Hosty said he spent 30 hours telling what he called the "true assassination story" to the Senate Intelligence Committee, but was invited to testify for 3½ hours before the House committee only after he asked why he had not been called.

Hosty said House committee investigators last month gave him the impression they were "all done with the investigation and they were writing the report (due in December) — that they were not opening any new grounds any more."

"It looked like they (members of the House committee) were trying to avoid me," he said. "In fact, they almost didn't call me."

Hosty's name and other information were in a notebook Oswald had when arrested, but the FBI did not disclose the fact to the Warren Commission in its initial reports on the notebook. The FBI finally made the admission in a "supplemental" report on Feb. 11, 1964 — only after it had been reported by various news agencies.

In 1975, it was reported Oswald left a threatening note at the Dallas FBI office two weeks before Kennedy was killed. Hosty told reporters the note warned Oswald "would take action against the FBI ... if I did not stop talking to his wife." Hosty said the note was ordered destroyed two days after the assassination by J. Gordon Shanklin, then special agent in charge of the FBI in Dallas.

Shanklin, now retired, has denied he knew about the note from Oswald.

Postal Crunch Near

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Top postal and union leaders are entering the showdown stage of a 15-day special mediating period designed to reach a negotiated agreement and avoid an arbitrated settlement of the postal dispute.

A negotiated or arbitrated settlement must come by 10 p.m. Saturday, officials said. If no negotiated settlement is reached in the next day or so, federal mediator James Healy will start arbitrating the dispute.

Healy met for 2½ hours Sunday with in what a spokesman described as "nuts and bolts talks" with James Conway, deputy postmaster general; Lonnie Johnson, president of the Mail Handlers Division of the Service Employees International Union; Joseph Vacca, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers; Emmett Andrews, president of the American Postal Workers Union, and James Lapenta of the Mail Handlers Union, who has been a co-ordinator for the three unions.

Healy planned to meet with the representatives again this morning.

LIFE OWED TO WET SUIT

NORTH BEND, Ore. (AP) — A fisherman missing nearly 24 hours in the ocean after his boat sank off the coast from Lincoln City was found Saturday night alive and well.

Oscar Jamison, of Seaside, Ore., reported to the Coast Guard at about 7 p.m. Friday that he was abandoning his sinking boat, the Joycily, because of turbulent waters. He reported his position as about 24 kilometres from Lincoln City.

Jamison was found by the Coast Guard cutter, Campbell, out of San Francisco, about 32 kilometres north of where his boat sank. Coast Guard officers said Jamison survived because he was wearing a wet suit. The suit had been tested to offer protection for six to eight hours in Alaskan waters.

The fisherman lost only one degree of temperature because of the suit, said Lt. Tom Pray of Seattle.

School Boycott Call To Protest Busing

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Massive court-ordered busing begins Tuesday in the nation's second largest school district with angry anti-busing parents calling for a full-scale boycott of the public schools.

More than 1,200 yellow school buses will move out at dawn to begin shuttling 85,000 pupils in one of the largest integration efforts yet undertaken in the nation.

Integration has eluded the city's schools for 15 years, during which the case became bogged down in the courts. Now the legal manoeuvres have ended and the district plan to integrate schools takes effect Tuesday.

The district plan will desegregate about 55,000 youngsters in grades four through eight. Another 30,000 students have opted to voluntarily participate in the busing plan.

If everyone shows up, desegregation will involve 85,000 of the district's 567,000 students enrolled this fall.

But many parents, particularly in the predominately white San Fernando Valley, are angry over the lengthy bus rides — with some one-way rides lasting 90 minutes.

About 700 parents in the San Fernando Valley area said they would put their children in neighborhood tutoring classes rather than send them on lengthy bus rides.

Boycott organizer Link Wyler said it was hoped thousands of parents would keep their children home so the busing plan would "self destruct" because the school district could not find sufficient students for integration.

School Board President Howard Miller called on parents Sunday to support the plan.

"Tuesday morning will be a test of the character of the people of Los Angeles," Miller said. "Obeying a court-mandated integration plan really is a test of character. I am confident we will pass that test."

Miller said he did not think parents would keep their children out for more than a few days or weeks.

"I just don't think people are going to deny an education to their children," Miller said. "There's no kind of pressure of that nature that could result in a change in the integration plan."

PAPERS' WORKERS VOTE TO STRIKE

BOSTON (UPI) — Members of the Boston Typographical Union Sunday voted overwhelmingly to authorize a strike against the city's two major daily newspapers, the Globe and the Herald American, a union official said.

Union President Henry Vitale said the vote was 576-19 to give the union negotiating committee the authority to call a strike without going back to the membership. Vitale said no strike date has been set.

The estimated 800 employees of the local union, who have been without a contract since Dec. 31, are composing room workers at the two papers.

Vitale said he couldn't predict the outcome of the upcoming negotiations. "It's hard to determine right now but we have meetings scheduled Tuesday and Wednesday," he said. "I'm optimistic an agreement could be reached if the publishers will do some hard-nosed bargaining with the local union."

The two sides have been bargaining for 14 months.

Tanker Aground

PORT ALLEN, La. (UPI) — A 557-foot Liberian tanker loaded with 18,000 tons of molasses and about 20,000 gallons of diesel fuel is aground and in danger of sinking in the Mississippi River, the Coast Guard said today.

"It's in a critical condition," Coast Guard spokesman Claude Otto said. "They're taking on a lot of water."

The ship's stern was on the bottom in about 20 feet of water, Otto said. The ship was listing badly and in danger of sinking, he said.

The M.V. Tollana began taking on water about 10:30 p.m. Sunday south of the Port Allen locks, which are across the Mississippi from Baton Rouge, La. The river is approximately 40 feet deep at the Port Allen dock.

A sheen of oil spread on the water from the ship, apparently from the engine room, which was completely under water, Otto said.

The Gulf Coast Strike Team, a pollution control unit from Bay St. Louis, Miss., rushed to the scene with heavy-duty pumps in an attempt to remove water from the holds of the ship.

Death Toll Up

NEW DELHI (AP) — The official death toll in India's monsoon floods has risen to 1,023 persons since late June, and the Yamuna and Ganges rivers are still overflowing their banks, Irrigation Secretary C. C. Patel said Sunday.

SNIFFING KILLS BOYS

TAYLORTOWN, La. (UPI)—Three teen-agers died Sunday from sniffing canned Freon gas inside a closed automobile; a fourth was hospitalized and reported to be barely conscious.

The dead boys were found stretched out on car seats early Sunday by one of the victim's brothers.

Breedlove said the boys had been sniffing from a large Freon can with all the windows rolled up.

Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Soaring industrial and energy issues sent the Toronto stock market sharply higher today in active mid-session trading.

The TSE 300 index rose 7.18 to 1,287.61 with advances in all four of its most heavily-weighted groups.

Industrial products climbed 23.5 to 1,045.62, oil and gas stocks 20.46 to 1,761.33, financial services 5.74 to 1,147.83 and metals and minerals 3.69 to 1,104.63.

Real estate and construction shares jumped more than 15 points to lead the seven gainers among the other 10 groups within the 14-unit composite index. Utilities were the biggest of the three losers.

Volume of trading by 1 p.m. Toronto time totalled 3.73 million shares, down from 4.23 million at the same time Friday.

Advances led declines 204 to 163 with 220 issues unchanged.

Numac Oil and Gas Ltd. advanced 1¼ to $30¾ on the sale of 157,220 shares following its opening resumption after a brief halt late Friday due to an imbalance of orders.

New York

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 3.90 to 911.64 at 2 p.m. New York local time, after the rally had stalled in midday when profit-hunters began selling to benefit from early gains.

Advances held a 2-to-1 lead over declines on the New York Stock Exchange, where volume was active at 28.69 million shares.

The surge followed a 14.03-point gain Friday, when Wall Streeters, cheered about good news about the dollar, wholesale prices and the money supply, went on a buying spree.

The dollar was higher in early foreign exchange trading today, but settled back later on to finish mixed overseas.

Texaco gained ¼ to $25, Mobil was up ⅝ to $71, Atlantic Richfield rose ⅜ to $55¼ and Exxon added ⅛ to $51⅞.

Among blue-chips, General Motors rose ⅛ to $66⅛, AT and T gained ⅞ to $62⅛, Alcoa was up ⅜ to $47⅝ and Philip Morris picked up 1 to $76½.

Holiday Inns rose 1⅝ to $27¾ in active trading. The company said it would explore casino opprtunities in any states that legalized gambling.

The NYSE composite index of all its listed common stocks rose 0.30 to 60.54.

Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices were higher in moderate trading today on the Montreal Stock Exchange, with the 85-stock composite index up 2.42 at 218.02.

Volume at 2 p.m. EDT was 356,786.

CP Ltd. was up ⅜ at $25, Imperial Oil A ⅜ at $12½, Moore ½ at $36½, Toronto-Dominion Bank ⅛ at $21⅛ and Seagram $1 at $29¾. Bell Canada was off $1¼ at $60.

London

LONDON (CP) — Prices moved sharply higher near the close of moderate trading Monday on the London stock market.

CATTLE

CALGARY (CP) — Receipts at the Calgary public stockyards to 11 a.m. Alberta time today totalled 700 head, with a light supply of slaughter cows. Cattle on hand were mainly yearling feeder steers.

Trade was active with a broad local demand of slaughter cows. There were too few slaughter steers or heifers on offer to quote. Slaughter cows sold steady and bologna bulls were steady.

D1-2 cows 43.50-45-50, D3 41-43.50, D5 38-41. Good bulls 49-52.75.

Feeder cattle: Today's trade opened with the Monday fall feeder sale at the Calgary yards. This special sale, as well as the usual Friday sale, will continue throughout the fall.

All classes traded actively with a broad local demand. The bulk of sales were grass yearling cross-bred steers from British Columbia, which sold from $2 to $4 higher. Good feeder steers over 800 pounds 68-76.50, 700-800 pounds 70-77 and 600-700 pounds 70-78.

Storm Cloud Brews Over Weathership End

Commercial fishermen and other mariners will be endangered by the phasing out of the weatherships Quadra and Vancouver, say B.C. weathermen.

Dr. Ron Burling, president of the Canadian Meteorological and Oceanographic Society, confirmed today his organization has written Prime Minister Trudeau and treasury board head Robert Andras warned weather predictions will deteriorate if the ships are removed before an alternative system is put into effect.

The federal government has announced it will phase out the ships and their Station Papa duties in 1980 as part of its cutback program.

Burling, who is with the University of British Columbia's institute of oceanography, said an alternative system will take at least five years to implement.

He said Station Papa is the only weather station west of B.C. and the only one upstream as far as the weather is concerned.

"What do you do if you're a fisherman and the weather suddenly changes without warning?" he asked.

"There is bound to be an increase in the number of incidents."

He said removal of Station Papa is bound to result in a deterioration in weather forecasting.

"B.C. weather forecasts of all kinds — for aviation, agriculture, forestry, recreation and the general public — will be adversely affected by the loss of Papa data," he said.

Ottawa has suggested forecasts in future can be handled by satellites but Burling said satellite systems depend on the availability of conventional surface-based data as that collected at Station Papa, 800 miles out in the Pacific.

A proven satellite-instrumented buoy system, to partly replace the weatherships, will take five years to go into operation, he said.

There is no indication what will happen to the weather-ships once they are phased out.

Man Badly Injured In Crash

One man suffered serious injuries including third degree burns and four others were hurt Sunday night when a van flipped and rolled after hitting a parked car in the 900-block Esquimalt Road.

Esquimalt police said today a van driven by Dave Smith, 19, of 640 Lampson, overturned several times after hitting a car parked on the roadside at about 8:50 p.m.

Smith was trapped in the vehicle, which came to rest on its roof, while four passengers were thrown free.

Police said it took 30 to 40 minutes to free Smith using the Jaws of Life. He suffered back injuries as well as burns to his chest and back. He also broke his right arm.

A fire was quickly brought under control.

Brian Ross, 18, of the New Zealand frigate Otago, was the only other person kept in hospital.

He has a broken leg.

The other three passengers suffered only minor cuts and bruises.

Police identified those escaping without serious injury as Stephen Edwards, 19, of the Otago and George Host, 22, and Bruce Leeming, 22, both of 669 Constance.

Record Traffic On Ferries During August

B.C. Ferries carried a record 1,053,650 passengers between Vancouver Island and the mainland in August, the corporation announced today.

It was only the second time the total had topped one million.

The heavy count was up 14.63 from August, 1977, when 919,171 passengers were carried during the month.

There were only 785,807 in August, 1976, the year the ferry fares went up, after the first million-passenger year of 1,009,846 in 1975.

Vehicle traffic was also up strongly between the island and the mainland during the month with 321,706 carried, up 12.41 per cent from 286,179 in August, 1977.

Most of the increase was in the Victoria—Tsawwassen run, where there was an 17 per cent increase in passenger traffic and a 15 per cent increase in vehicles.

"We are pleased to see our forecasts of an increase of 15 per cent or more come true," Visitors Information Centre president Ted Balderson said.

"We had been hoping for a good tourist month like this. I haven't heard any complaints from local merchants. Everyone is happy.

"The increase was due to a number of things but mainly good promotions — and the weather co-operated.

"I hope we can get the same kind of help from the weatherman this month. Right now it's not all that promising."

The detailed report from B.C. Ferries showed that during August passenger traffic was up 17.53 per cent out of Tsawwassen and up 17.68 per cent out of Swartz Bay.

The up-Island increases were 10.54 per cent out of Nanaimo and 9.91 per cent out of Horseshoe Bay.

Vehicle traffic was up 15.08 per cent out of Tsawwassen and up 15.62 per cent out of Swartz Bay.

Up-Island the vehicle count was up 9.07 per cent out of Nanaimo and up 8.74 per cent out of Horseshoe Bay.

BUT 'UP WITH PEOPLE' WORTH IT

Costly 'Adventure' for Grad

Why would a University of Victoria grad pay $4,500 for the right to work for one year?

Because it's Up With People and it's a learning experience, says Janice Viloski, 23, a graduate in marine biology.

"I was taking some post-graduate courses and looking for something interesting to do," she said.

"Then this came along and it looked like an adventure. It's costing $4,500 for the year but I don't mind that."

During her year she will visit 18 countries and live with about 100 families.

Members must be under 26 and are selected for one year only.

They audition as singers or dancers and those without stage abilities carry out managerial and publicity functions.

They are from 14 nations and they tour all year, putting on entertainment and helping with charitable events.

Their Victoria schedule:

Tuesday: at 2 p.m. the 100 members divide into three groups and perform at Pearkes Clinic For Handicapped Children, Queen Alexandra Hospital for Children and Centennial Square Silver Threads.

At 4 p.m. the entire cast performs in Centennial Square. Official welcome will be by Mayor Mike Young.

At 5 p.m. cast members meet the 60 Victoria families acting as billets.

Wednesday: at 10 a.m. a performance for patients of Gorge Road hospital.

At 4 p.m. a visit to Government House.

Ex-Columnist, Commentator Dies Suddenly

Funeral services will be held in West Vancouver on Wednesday for former Times columnist and well-known author and television-radio commentator David Brock.

His column, Chips off the Old Brock, appeared in the Times during the 60s.

Aged 68, he died suddenly in his West Vancouver home on Saturday.

He is survived by his wife Babs Coulthard, and children John, Phoebe and Tim of Vancouver and Mary of Calgary; six grandchildren, and brothers Rear-Admiral P.W. Brock of Haslemere, Eng., Philip of Penticton, and Tom Brock of 2460 Windsor Road.

Pioneer Ernie Todd Dies at 91

His family has arranged a private family funeral later this week at McCall Bros.

Todd was born in Victoria in the family home which ironically was located where the McCall funeral home stands today.

He built a home in Oak Bay at 508 Island Road in 1912 and lived there ever since.

Todd was the past president of J.H. Todd and Sons Fish Canners.

A sports enthusiast, he was an honorary member of the Victoria Golf Club, the Victoria Yacht Club and Victoria Gun Club.

He was also a past member of the Rowing Association and rugby club.

He is survived by one son, Jack, and one daughter Marjorie Louise Todd of Victoria, three grandsons and four great grandchildren.

Man Fined $850 Over Quality Drug

A Victoria man stopped by police during an April drug investigation had a pound of quality marijuana in his possession — worth between $900 and $1,400 on the illicit market.

In Victoria county court Friday, Bruce Morley Kielbiski was charged with possession of marijuana for the purpose of trafficking.

Kielbiski pleaded guilty to simple possession and the Crown did not proceed with the trafficking charge.

Judge Peter Millward imposed a fine of $850.

Crown counsel said the accused was arrested as a result of a surveillance and besides the pound of Colombian marijuana, he carried an ounce of the drug in a plastic bag. Police said he had paid $800 for the larger quantity.

Museum Popular

Most patrons of plays, musical events and the art gallery in Victoria are retired persons, according to a survey of leisure activities.

Cinemas are largely supported by a younger audience, the report says.

The survey was conducted under the summer employment program of the arts and culture branch of the secretary of state department. Nicholas Tuele was project leader.

Other findings were that the Provincial Museum is — outside of television — the biggest leisure time attraction for residents of the area and that Victorians really don't believe the city needs a symphony of international standard.

Tuele said a full report will be sent to Ottawa and also distributed widely in Victoria.

Panda Pregnant?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Could it be? Ling-Ling expecting? Are the giant pandas finally going to produce an offspring?

So far it is barely a hope. A little hint that Hsing-Hsing finally caved in and did his beastly best.

Ling-Ling, the National Zoo's female giant panda, was busy last weekend building a nest with broken bamboo stalks in a sand pile on the rocks inside her cage.

Assessing the situation scientifically, Theodore Reed, the zoo director, said: "We don't know what the hell is going on.

"It could be a false pregnancy, or more likely it is just the female's normal fall hormonal changes. But it could be the real thing too.

"If I was a betting man, I would put up a case of whiskey saying she's not pregnant."

KISSING BANDIT SOUGHT

CHICAGO (UPI) — Police were searching the West Side Sunday for the "bussing bandit" who kissed his fourth victim before snatching her purse.

Police said Dorzetta Cook, 17, became the latest victim about 3 a.m. Sunday when a man approached her, kissed her on the lips, grabbed her purse and rifled it as he stood in front of her.

Police said that after taking $4 in cash, the man asked, "Got any food stamps?"

The man fits the description of a thief who kissed three other women before stealing their purses.

When Ms. Cook, who is pregnant, said she had no stamps, the man threatened to sexually assault her, but he fled, police said.

Yanks Score a Sweep In 'Boston Massacre'

By The Associated Press

Who's afraid of the big, bad Green Monster? Certainly not New York Yankees.

With fabled Fenway Park and its legendary left-field wall—the Green Monster—as the backdrop, the Yankees swept through a four-game series with alarming ease, capping its own Boston Massacre with a 7-4 whipping of the Red Sox on Sunday.

That pulled the red-hot New Yorkers even with the Red Sox in the American League East, a situation hardly imagined when the Yankees started the important series last Thursday night four games back.

"The whole country must be shocked at what we've done," said reliever Rich Gossage, one of Sunday's heroes for New York.

Well, at least the Red Sox are shocked.

"New York's got the advantage, I'd say," said Boston manager Don Zimmer. "I don't know what the hell is happening to us. They hit everyone I put out there.

"It's been a total team slump for two weeks. Too many strange things are happening. But there ain't no one around here who's going to quit."

It wasn't only the four-game sweep, but the humiliating way the Yankees did it in Boston's backyard. They pounded 14 pitchers for 42 runs and 67 hits in the series.

"It's back to opening day," said Yankees outfielder Paul Blair.

Meanwhile, California Angels also made things interesting in the American League West, beating Kansas City 13-3 and moving within a half-game of the Royals, the division leaders.

Elsewhere, Minnesota Twins beat Milwaukee Brewers 3-1, Cleveland Indians stopped Detroit Tigers 7-4, Chicago White Sox edged Seattle Mariners 2-1 and Texas Rangers beat Oakland A's 8-3 in the first game of a doubleheader before losing the nightcap 2-1.

On Saturday, the Yankees blasted Boston 7-0, Baltimore blanked Toronto Blue Jays 4-0, Detroit downed Cleveland 5-2, Seattle defeated Chicago 9-6, Milwaukee shut out Minnesota 3-0 and California swept at doubleheader from Kansas City 3-2 and 4-2. The Texas at Oakland contest was called because of rain.

Graig Nettles, Roy White, Thurman Munson and Bucky Dent had three hits apiece as the Yankees went on an 18-single binge. Ed Figueroa and Gossage combined on a five-hitter as the Yankees streaked to their sixth consecutive victory and their 16th in the last 18 games.

Don Baylor drove in five runs with a grand slam homer and a single as California walloped Kansas City. The Angels Nolan Ryan, 7-12, scattered nine hits and struck out 12. Kansas City starter Paul Splittorff, 16-12, didn't retire a batter.

"We really have it going now," Ryan said after the Angels third consecutive victory over the Royals. "The doubleheader victory Saturday night really picked up our spirits.

"We have the momentum going, just like I'm sure the Yankees have it going in the Eastern Division."

In the National League on Sunday, Los Angeles whipped Atlanta 11-5, Cincinnati Reds downed the stumbling Giants 8-1, St. Louis Cardinals stopped Philadelphia Phillies 8-6 in 10 innings, New York Mets beat the sliding Pittsburgh Pirates 11-9, Chicago Cubs defeated Montreal Expos 6-3 and Houston Astros nipped San Diego Padres 3-2.

On Saturday, Chicago defeated Montreal 6-3, Cincinnati stopped San Fracisco 6-3, Philadelphia beat St. Louis 6-3, New York dropped Pittsburgh 4-1, Atlanta tripped Los Angeles 7-4 and Houston whipped San Diego 10-4.

Track Record

WINNIPEG (CP) — Overskate went to the front early and ran away to win the 30th running of the Manitoba Derby Saturday by 14 lengths. Ridden by Robin Platts, the overwhelming (1-9) favorite ran the one and one-eighth miles in 1:47 3-5, a track record.

Overskate won $39,750.

RAIN ERASES PLAYOFFS

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The Pacific Coast League baseball season ended Saturday when the league president cancelled the West Division playoff final and scheduled championship series.

Portland Beavers' owner Leo Ornest said Roy Jackson, league president, told him he had decided to end the season because of Western Division playoff delays caused by rainy weather in Portland.

Jackson also cancelled the championship series, which had been scheduled for East Division-winner Albuquerque and the winner of the Portland-Tacoma series.

Portland and Tacoma were tied 2-2 after the first four games of the best-of-five West Division playoff series. The final game, scheduled for Saturday in Portland, was cancelled by Jackson because of persistent rain.

Swedish Driver Dies of Injuries After Flaming Grand Prix Crash

MILAN, ITALY (AP) — Swedish auto racing driver Ronnie Peterson died today from injuries suffered in Sunday's Grand Prix of Italy Formula I event, his manager, Steffan Svendy, reported.

The 34-year-old Swede had suffered multiple leg fractures and scalds in the arms when his Lotus car was struck by other racers, hit a guardrail and caught fire soon after the start of the Italian Grand Prix at Monza, which was delayed for nearly three hours following the pileup of cars.

Early today, Peterson had developed severe kidney and breathing failure following "gaseous embolism" due to the severe fractures, doctors reported.

He had been reported in deep coma and in desperate condition soon after dawn surgery.

A spokesman of the Niguarda hospital, where Peterson had been rushed soon after the accident, later said the driver clinically died at 4:10 EDT.

Peterson, born in Orebro, Sweden, on Feb. 14, 1944, suffered the fatal injuries when his Lotus was involved in the collision of 10 cars in a narrow section of the track following the starting straight of the Monza Autodrome.

He was dragged out of his burning car by Britain's James Hunt, who also was involved in the accident but escaped unhurt.

Peterson, a three-time winner of the Italian Grand Prix, was rated as one of the favorites in Sunday's race. He was the runner-up to team-mate Mario Andretti in the world championship Formula 1 standings and the only one, before the Monza race, who could still have overtaken the American.

Peterson made his Formula 1 debut in 1970's Grand Prix of Monaco. Since then he raced in a total of 122 Grand Prix events, winning 10.

He was scheduled to quit Lotus at the end of the current season to possibly join the McLaren team.

The condition of Vittorio Brambilla of Italy, another driver suffered head injuries in the 10-car accident, was listed as good, hospital officials said.

The death of Peterson will lead to a compulsory investigation into the causes of the fatal accident.

Peterson's Lotus was struck by a white-red painted car that had collided with another racer in a jammed, confused start that Swiss veteran ace Clay Regazzoni blamed on the rear rows.

Meanwhile, Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., clinched his first world Formula 1 title in the race. He crossed the finish line first in his Lotus racer but was later dropped to sixth place by the jury.

The victory in the Italian race was awarded to defending world champion Niki Lauda of Austria, who actually finished third in the 14th event of the world championship.

Lauda, who drove a Brabham-Alfa, benefited from a one-minute penalty imposed on Andretti and on his runner-up, Canadian Gilles Villeneuve from Berthierville, Que., in a Ferrari, on the claim that they started before the actual go signal.

Both Lotus and Ferrari appealed immediately.

But an official said it wouldn't stand up because "their irregularity was well evident to the jury."

'Next Time' for Bjorn; Plenty of Time for Pam

JIMMY CONNORS
. . . riding on cloud

NEW YORK (AP) — Bjorn Borg's grand slam dream and Pam Shriver's Cinderella story both came to an end Sunday as Jimmy Connors and Chris Evert—former sweethearts and current good friends—waltzed off with the big prizes at the United States Open tennis tournament.

Connors was at his fiery, fist-shaking, foot-stomping best in trouncing Borg, who was bothered by a blister on his right thumb, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2 for the men's title.

Hours earlier, Evert sent the 16-year-old Shriver back to school with a 7-5, 6-4 tennis lesson in the women's championship before a record crowd of 19,537, including 18,032 paid, and an international television audience.

"I came here to play tennis, to win the U.S. Open—and I did it," said Connors, who achieved a measure of revenge for the 6-2, 6-2, 6-2 beating he suffered to Borg two months ago at Wimbledon.

It was Connors' third U.S. Open title. He won in 1974 and 1976 and was a beaten finalist in 1975 and 1977.

"I won the Open on grass, I won it on clay, I won it here (on a fast artificial surface, Deco-Turf II, at the National Tennis Centre)," he said. "Now I've shown I can win on any surface. I'm riding on a cloud right now."

Before the tournament, Connors had vowed to go "to the ends of the earth" to stop Borg's grand slam bid—the French, U.S. and Australian opens and Wimbledon, all in the same year. Borg already had won the French Open and Wimbledon, but instead of the ends of the earth, Connors was able to halt that streak in New York.

"It seems I play my best tennis when I come to New York," Connors told the crowd, which often has rooted against him in his matches here and which had mixed allegiances Sunday. "Whether you like me or not, I like you."

Borg, meanwhile, couldn't give his best effort because of a painful blister on the thumb of his racquet hand. The injury occurred Saturday and was treated with ice packs, oral medication and spray antiseptic in the 24 hours before the match.

Twice the racquet flew from Borg's hand as he attempted to serve, and on other occasions he seemed to mis-hit the ball after apparently losing his grip. Although Borg insisted the blister hadn't bothered him during the match, his coach said otherwise.

Whether a healthy Borg could have handled Connors, the way he was playing Sunday, is questionable.

"I hit the ball real solid and real deep throughout the match," said the 26-year-old Connors. "I was fired up when I was out there. I don't know if I've ever played a match where I started so well, so aggressively, and kept it up throughout."

Connors charged the net with assurance, served well and returned Borg's serve superbly, often sending the ball back faster than it came.

Connors broke service in the fifth game and held the rest of the way in taking the first set, then broke again in the third game of the second set. After that, it was all Connors as he dealt Borg his first defeat in 50 matches, not counting a pair of defaults due to injury.

"I never let up," Connors said. "I got on top of him and I stayed there."

Borg, meanwhile, took the loss in stride.

"For sure I'm disappointed," he said of losing his bid to join Don Budge and Rod Laver as Grand Slam champions. "I was very close. I won two and was in the finals here. But there's always next time."

There should be plenty of next times for Shriver, the lean six-footer who lent a breath of fresh air to this tournament with her on-court play and off-court charm. The youngest Open finalist ever, she was to begin 11th grade classes at McDonough High School in Lutherville, Md., today.

"My only worry was that I'd get blown off the court," said the youngster who had beaten top-seeded Martina Navratilova in the semi-finals. "But I didn't. I played pretty well. I'm happy with my game."

Her strong serve and volley game was not enough to stop Evert from becoming the third woman to win the U.S. Open four years in a row. Molla Bjurstedt did it in 1915-18 and Helen Jacobs in 1932-35.

Evert, 23, was more aggressive than usual against Shriver, coming to the net with confidence because she knew the youngster's passing game was not a threat. Shriver volleyed well, but in the end the combination of Evert's strong baseline game, her passing shots and her frequent forays to the net proved too much.

Total paid attendance for the first Open to be held at the National Tennis Centre, following the move from the West Side Tennis Club, was a record 275,300 for 21 sessions.

Deliberate Stabler Fumble Gets Raiders by Chargers

By The Associated Press

Ken Stabler admitted he fumbled the ball on purpose and Dave Casper admitted he really did help the ball along. But the important thing was that Jerry Markbriet saw nothing wrong with any of that fooling around.

Oakland Raiders, a National Football League power for many years, appeared doomed to their second straight loss of the season Sunday.

But with 10 seconds to play and the Raiders 14 yards from the San Diego goal line, Stabler intentionally fumbled and Casper fell on the ball in the end zone for a touchdown. Errol Mann kicked the extra point with no time remaining and Oakland had a 21-20 victory over the Chargers.

Markbriet, the referee, ignored the howls from the Chargers bench.

Victory is something Baltimore coach Ted Marchibroda would like. For that matter, he probably would be happy with just a touchdown, a field goal, a safety . . . any kind of a score.

The Colts have not been playing the best brand of football this year. They've been shut out twice and have allowed 80 points—tops in the NFL. After their 38-0 loss at Dallas Cowboys last Monday night, the Colts came home Sunday and were blitzed 42-0 by Miami Dolphins.

In Sunday's other games, Chicago Bears edged San Francisco '49ers 16-13; Cleveland Browns bumped Cincinnati Bengals 13-10 in overtime; Green Bay Packers stopped New Orleans Saints 28-17; Houston Oilers defeated Kansas City Chiefs 20-17; Pittsburgh Steelers downed Seattle Seahawks 21-10; Dallas Cowboys beat New York Giants 34-24; New York Jets nipped Buffalo Bills 21-20; Washington Redskins defeated Philadelphia Eagles 35-30; New England Patriots tripped St. Louis Cardinals 16-6 and Los Angeles Rams blanked Atlanta Falcons 10-0. On Saturday night Detroit Lions shut out Tampa Bay Bucanneers 15-0.

Denver Broncos visit Minnesota Vikings tonight.

"Somebody (defensive end Fred Dean) grabbed me and I was trying to throw the ball about the time I got hit," Stabler said after his quick thinking enabled the Raiders to defeat San Diego. "I fumbled it on purpose. Yes, I was trying to fumble."

Casper was equally candid when asked about his part in the play. "I got lucky," he said. "Sure, I helped the ball along into the end zone. I saw the fumble come out of the pile."

Markbriet said Chargers coach Tommy Prothro protested that the fumble had been thrown forward and batted illegally by Casper.

"I ruled it a fumble," said Markbriet.

Earlier in the final period Stabler teamed up with Morris Bradshaw on a 44-yard touchdown play that started Oakland back from a 20-7 deficit. The Chargers built the lead on Hank Bauer's two short scoring runs and Dan Fouts's 14-yard touchdown pass to Pat Curran.

Marchibroda, trying to deal with the absence of quarterback Bert Jones, failed with Mike Kirkland against the Cowboys and had no more success with Bill Troup facing the Dolphins. He was intercepted six times, one of them run back 53 yards for a touchdown by Norris Thomas.

"The 100 yards was nice but it doesn't mean a thing since we lost," O. J. Simpson said after winning his first head-to-head confrontation with Walter Payton. Simpson had 108 yards rushing to Payton's 62—but Simpson's fumble turned out to be a pivotal one.

He recovered the ball but lost six yards on the play and the '49ers, leading by four points in the fourth quarter, had to go to the air to try and maintain possession. Doug Buffone then intercepted and Chicago wound up with the winning touchdown.

Pittsburgh's Terry Bradshaw passed for touchdowns of four yards to wide receiver Lynn Swann and 20 yards to running back Sid Thornton against Seattle.

Discipline Gets Rocks on Top In Cup Struggle

Special to The Times

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. — "Discipline" may be an overused term in sport, but it's one the Victoria Shamrocks heard Sunday night and one they are going to hear again tonight.

"Discipline is what gave us the victory," coach Nirmal Dillon of the Shamrocks said following the Shamrocks 11-7 victory over Peterborough Red Oaks in the fifth game of their Mann Cup Canadian lacrosse final Sunday.

"We played a disciplined game and if we do that Monday then we can bring home the cup.

Shamrocks lead the series three games to two. Sixth game is scheduled tonight with a seventh contest, if necesssary, Wednesday.

Peterbrough won the first game of the series, 12-11, Shamrocks the next two, both by a 14-11 score, and Peterborough the fourth game 15-7.

Brian Evans, the Shamrocks' pickup from Nanaimo, and Ron MacNeil, the Shamrocks' leading scorer on the season, combined with goalkeeper Larry Smeltzer as those most instrumental in the Shamrock victory.

Evans had one goal and four assists, was dominant on face-offs, and was selected as the game star. MacNeil had two goals, both on the power play in the first period as the Shamrocks grabbed a 5-3 lead, while Smeltzer was steady in goal and according to Dillon "played very well."

Dillon described Peterborough as "a good club and to win against them we have to grind it out."

MacNeil said: "I said when this series started whoever got the breaks would win it, and tonight we got the breaks. We were a little mad after losing 15-7 Friday night and decided to work hard in this game.

"Our passing was sharp and crisp and we got back to our style of game which is a controlled running game."

The Red Oaks' dressing room was quiet.

"I don't know what it was tonight, whether it was overconfidence or being up-tight but we just couldn't do anything right," said Bob Delpellaro, general manager of the Red Oaks, representing the Ontario Lacrosse Association Major Series.

"We tried to play a breakaway style game, which isn't our style, and that's when we got into trouble."

"It's tough to play catch up against a team like Victoria."

The Red Oaks moved into a two-goal lead in the first period before the Rocks became untracked. Then the Irish scored five straight goals and were never headed.

Ranjit Dillon made it 6-3 early in the second. Bob Wasson replied for the Red Oaks but goals by Ivan Thompson, on a breakaway, Dan Green and Brian Evans put it out of reach as the Shamrocks led 9-5 after two.

Larry Bell, Norm Baker and Jerry McKenna scored the other goals for the Rocks before a crowd of 3,010 in the Memorial Centre.

Jim Wasson led the Red Oaks with two goals, while Brian Cowie, Bob Wasson, Paul Evans, Ken Byers and Gerard Cowie contributed one each.

The Red Oaks outshot the Shamrocks 51-46. A total of 48 minutes in penalties was assessed, including 26 to Victoria.

Cablevision Retains Cup

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) — Burnaby Cablevision mounted a consistent attack in the third period Sunday night to score an 18-10 win over Whitby Builders, giving the British Columbia club its second consecutive Canadian junior lacrosse championship.

Burnaby was presented with the Minto Cup after scoring its fourth win against one loss in the final series.

Burnaby led 6-2 after the first period, but Whitby fought back to tie the score 9-9 after the second.

But Burnaby, relying on the hard hitting and good conditioning that allowed it to dominate the third period in two earlier wins in the series, outscored Whitby 9-1 in the final 20 minutes to clinch the Cup.

Derek Dickson and Lyle Robinson led Burnaby with three goals each while Loyd Simons, John Swan and Paolo Brunoro added two apiece. Singles went to Alan Kirk, John Purdon, Paul Dal Monte, Mike O'Reilly, Gord Roberts and Dan Perreault.

Larry Grahan scored three for Whitby, with Rob Gemmell and Ken Colley notching two each. Cam Devine, Ed Derks and Tom Lintner scored singles.

Philip Heads 'Best' Team

WATERLOO, Ont. (CP) — The best men's and women's teams in the history of Canadian gymnastics will be flying to France in October for world competitions, says Carol Anne Letheren, a vice-president of the Canadian Gymnastics Federation.

"These teams will be a threat to many countries competing in the worlds, and it's not at all unlikely that our women's team will place in the top eight."

Letheren made the comments Sunday after the two-day trial to choose a Canadian team to compete in the world meet Oct. 15-30 in Strasbourg, France.

Even the top gymnasts, whose inclusion on the team was never in question, said the competition was among the keenest they'd ever experienced.

He also received the single highest score of any competitor in the meet, with a 9.9 for a stunning performance on pommel horse.

Other members of the men's team: Warren Long of Montreal, who finished second with 110.70 points; Jean Choquette of Montreal, third with 109.80; Owen Walstrom of Victoria, fourth with 106.25; Nigel Rothwell of Windsor, Ont., sixth with 105.40, and Pierre Clavel of Montreal, eighth with 103.20.

Pierre Carriere of Montreal, fifth with 106.20 points, was named as an alternate.

Karen Kelsall, 15, of Surrey, B.C., was the undisputed champion of this meet, her final total of 76.25 points serving only as a symbol for brilliant performances in her floor routines, uneven parallel bar exercises, vaults and balance beam.

Elfie Schlegel, 14, of Toronto, the Commonwealth individual gold medallist, finished second with 75.70 points.

"Everybody was very good," said 14-year-old Sherry Hawco of Cambridge, Ont., who finished the meet in third place.

Surprise was that Monica Goermann, 13, the baby of the Canadian Commonwealth team, didn't finish among the top four. The Winnipeg girl who held fourth place going into Sunday's optionals, slipped to fifth after she fell from the high bar about halfway through her uneven parallel bar routine.

The 8.0 mark she received helped to give her 73.85 points, putting her behind Carmen Alie of Montreal who placed fourth with 74.3.

The sixth member of the team is Ellen Stewart of Toronto, seventh in the meet with a total of 73.5 points. Alternates are Diana Carnegie of Toronto, ninth with 73.15 points and Karen Goold of Oakville, Ont., 10th with 72.45 points.

Laura Fach, 16, of Cambridge wound up sixth with 73.6 points but didn't make the team because selection wasn't based on just the weekend results.

ESKIMOS THRASH TIGER CATS; ROUGHRIDERS SURPRISE LIONS

It's 'Goodbye Leo'. . .Again

By The Canadian Press

Somehow, the average Canadian Football League fan had to know it all would turn out like this.

The CFL finished its 10th week Sunday and everything was falling into place—Edmonton Eskimos had erased any doubt about their position as the league's best team and Leo Cahill was out of a job—again.

"I think team-wise we played well," Campbell told reporters, downplaying Edmonton's best offensive display, point-wise, in club history as well as everything else.

For Cahill and the Argonauts, it proves that old chestnut about how the more things change the more they stay the same.

Cahill, the second-year, second-time coach, had predicted big things for the Argos this season, partly because of Toronto's acquisition of a National Football League free-agent speedster named Terry Metcalf.

But after a strong showing in the early going, Metcalf faltered and the door to the Argos camp started revolving once again, players coming and going as the Toronto club sank deeper and deeper in the Eastern Conference standings.

Sunday was the last straw. Montreal Alouettes whipped the Argos 27-2 and Cahill went out the same way he did in 1972—fired without hesitation by majority owner Bill Hodgson while a chorus of Goodbye Leo echoed from the disgruntled Toronto fans.

Saturday, however, the picture was a little different. British Columbia Lions were shocked by a 15-9 setback to the lowly Saskatchewan Roughriders and Winnipeg upset Ottawa Rough Riders 31-29.

Waddell Smith scored three touchdowns for Edmonton while Tom Scott, Stu Lang and Larry Washington added one each. Joe Hollimon contributed a defensive touchdown on a pass interception, returning it 35 yards, and Dave Cutler booted field goals of 13 and 28 yards while converting all the touchdowns.

At Toronto, Joe Barnes threw first-quarter touchdown passes to Brock Aynsley and Bob Gaddis and Canadian quarterback Jerry Datilio tossed a 49-yarder to Gaddis for the Montreal majors.

Don Sweet added field goals of 20 and 41 yards and converted all three touchdowns while punter Ken Clark and place kicker Ian Sunter each kicked a single for the Argos, who are sinking rapidly in the East with a 3-6 mark, while on a five-game losing streak.

Cahill, who said he had been "treated fairly all the way down the line," took a shot at just about everybody—fans, the press, his players—in his farewell speech.

"I'm sure people will say 'I'm sorry Leo.' But they're the same people who sang Goodbye Leo."

He said he felt the Toronto media had persecuted him. "Now I know how Jesus must have felt. I feel like I'm in a fish bowl with a lot of people looking at me."

Saskatchewan coach Walt Posadowski keeps insisting that the playoffs don't exist for the Roughriders, a psychological ploy which is producing results.

Offensive tackle Sam Holden recovered a fumble in the B.C. end zone in the second quarter and Randy Hall returned an interception for a 68-yard touchdown late in the first half for the Saskatchewan touchdowns.

The Lions got their points when Al Charuk pulled in a seven-yard Jerry Tagge pass on the last play of the game, and on Lui Passaglia's 30-yard field goal in the first quarter.

At Ottawa, the Blue Bombers recovered a short kickoff with less than a minute to play and went on to upset the Rough Riders.

ARGOS DROP CLARK

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Argonauts announced that offensive lineman Gene Clark, a three-year veteran with the Canadian Football League team, had been placed on waivers.

FORMER CHAMPS PLAN COMEBACK

Some players with Victoria Home Lumber, the team that disbanded after winning the Canadian championship in 1976, are re-organizing and senior "A" women's basketball may make a comeback here after a one-year's absence.

Jack Lusk, who coached the 1976 team, says an organizational meeting will be held Wednesday at Reynolds Secondary School, starting at 8:30 p.m.

Players who are interested in trying out but who may not be able to attend Wednesday's meeting are asked to contact Lusk (598-3760) for additional information.

T-Men's Depth Stops Dolphins

Showing depth and strength on offense as well as on defence, the Timbermen recorded their second straight victory Sunday by blanking Juan de Fuca Dolphins, a new entry this season, 31-0 at Duncan.

In another game Sunday, rebuilding Oak Bay Farmer Construction scored their second win in three starts by edging Nanaimo Headhunters, 17-13.

Andrew Johnstone and John Mace scored touchdowns but the boot of Paul Docherty provided the margin of difference. Docherty converted both touchdowns and clinched victory with a late, 35-yard field goal.

Oak Bay led 7-1 at half time.

French Ends Win Drought

Mike French broke a three-driver monopoly on the victory circle by taking the checkered flag in the 35-lap main stock car event Sunday at Western Speedway.

French, who took over on the 23rd lap, picked up his first win of the season after finishing 10 car lengths ahead of runner-up Dale Taylor.

Points champion Gordie Stone, who has eight main event victories to his credit this season and set fast time of the night with a lap of 20.12 seconds, was knocked out of the race after crashing into a lamp standard on the eighth lap. His vehicle was damaged on the front end and a broken oil line eventually forced him out of contention.

Al Miller, who has won two mains this season, finished fourth. Dean Cramb, who won the only other main, has retired from competition.

Jim Caudwell, who also won the trophy dash, took the lead on the 13th lap and went on to win the 40-lap super-stock main without much trouble.

Caudwell set fast time of 18.38.

Larry Pollard placed second and Orton Ker, who has won the past four straight feature races, finished third.

Incogs Nab Lead

It was a busy weekend for teams in the Victoria and District Cricket Association, but the important one is to follow.

Next weekend's season-ending matches will determine the 1978 league winners.

Incogs, scoring a pair of impressive victories, took over the lead at the weekend. Now with 50 points, Incogs lead Castaways by three and Alcos by eight.

Alcos play Incogs on Saturday but also have a postponed match with Cowichan, as do the Castaways.

Incogs made their big move Saturday by defeating Castaways by 91 runs. Incogs then scored an easy 76-run victory over Saanich on Sunday.

Castaways rebounded from Saturday's loss to defeat Albion by three wickets.

In the only other league match, Oak Bay scored an easy five-wicket victory over Cowichan to clinch fifth place in the tables.

Hanson captured six wickets for the cost of only 10 runs and Peter Nation took three for 14 as Cowichan was all out for 41.

Hanson was equally effective at bat. He scored 26 runs as Alcos quickly ran up 45 for three.

Rono Runs Away From Finnish Ace

LONDON (Reuter) — Henry Rono of Kenya returned to winning form with a vengeance when he beat European champion Martti Vainio of Finland over 10,000 metres at Crystal Palace Saturday.

The clash between Rono, the world-record-holder at this distance, and Vainio, surprise winner of the 10,000 metres gold medal at the European championships in Prague last week, was expected to be the high point of the two-day meet which centres round a match between Britain and Finland.

ELIMINATE WINTER TIRE CHANGEOVER
Goodyear Tiempo: The All Season Steel Belted Radial.
Now you can buy an all season radial tire that gives you the smooth quiet ride of a summer radial and handles winter like a snow tire. Over 10,000 biting edges give Tiempo traction and pull on snow and ice... without studs! How?
Tiempo meets Rubber Manufacturers Association standards as a snow tire yet on dry pavement the unique centre "whisper" rib design suppresses noise for a quiet ride.
Just think: you may never have to go to the expense or trouble of changing over to winter tires again.

Nelford Collects $10,325 Cheque

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Jerry Pate has had a good year moneywise but the 1976 United States Open winner really wasn't satisfied until Sunday.

Returning to the site of his last Professional Golfers' Association tour triumph, the 24-year-old became a repeat winner by finishing first in the $175,000 Southern Open tournament.

Pate shot a 69 Sunday for a 269 total, 11-under-par over the 6,791-yard Green Island Country Club Course, to hold off the charge of Phil Hancock, who had a 64 for 270.

"It's very satisfying to win after three second-place finishes," said Pate, who was the runner-up this year in the Phoenix Open, the Colonial and the PGA.

"I figured it was about time to win one," Pate said of his fifth tour triumph in three full seasons on the tour.

Tied for third place at 273, four strokes off the lead, were rookie Jim Nelford of Burnaby and veteran Don January. Nelford had a 64 and January a 68; both earning $10,325.

Whitworth Charges To Victory

DENVER (AP) — Veteran Kathy Whitworth, the all-time leading money-winner in women's golf, charged from four shots off the pace with a blistering five-under-par 67 Sunday to win the National Jewish Hospital Open at Green Gables Golf Club.

She finished at 211, three shots ahead third-round leader Pat Bradley, Jo Ann Washam and Gloria Ehret.

Finishing at 215, one under par, were Hollis Stacy and Sandra Post, formerly of Oakville, Ont., who pocketed $2,420. Dale Shaw of Victoria finished at 225 for $285.

Play was suspended for an hour by lightning, which was caused by the heat and smoke from a nearby timber and brush fire. A weather official said the fire created a disturbance in overhead clouds, creating the lightning.

JIM RUTLEDGE

JIM RUTLEDGE WINS PLAYOFF FOR PROVINCIAL PRO CROWN

PITT MEADOWS — Rookie Victoria professional Jim Rutledge scored the biggest victory of his brief pro career Saturday by capturing the 1978 British Columbia Professional Golfers' Association championship.

Rutledge, 19, earned first prize of $1,200 by defeating Vancouver veteran Bob Cox on the first hole of a sudden-death playoff. Rutledge won the playoff with a par when Cox took a bogey.

The 1978 Canadian junior champion, Rutledge forced the playoff by carding a three-under-par 68 Saturday to finish at 137, five under, and in the tie with Cox. Bill Wakeham of Cowichan missed making it a three-way playoff by finishing at 138.

Cox pocketed $800 while Wakeham earned $700.

FALDO TAKES PLAYOFF DUEL

WATERLOO, Belgium (AP) — Nick Faldo of Britain won the three-day Donald Swaelens golf tournament Sunday in a sudden-death playoff with Spain's Severiano Ballesteros. Both finished the regulation 54 holes tied at 209, 10 under par.

Faldo shot a final-round 68 and the Spaniard had a 70.

Bob Charles of New Zealand was third at 212 after firing a final-round 68. Gene Littler of the United States had a 73 and finished fourth at 213.

CAHILL FINED, WARNED

TORONTO (CP) — Leo Cahill, head coach of Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League, has been fined $200 by CFL commissioner Jake Gaudaur.

Cahill was fined for entering the officials dressing room following a game in Hamilton against the Tiger-Cats Sept. 4 and for being verbally abusive to the game officials.

Gaudaur considered the fine to be a purely nominal amount and had taken into consideration the fact that this was the first time Cahill had been guilty of such conduct. In a letter to Cahill, Gaudaur warned him that similiar conduct in the future would result in a fine of at least $1,000.

ROOKIE RELEASED

TORONTO (CP) — Darrell Penner, a rookie defensive back, has been released by Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League.

VETERAN UMPIRE CHARLIE PYE DIES

Charlie Pye, an umpire and executive in Victoria softball circles for almost three decades, died Sunday at the age of 62.

Employed at B.C. Hydro for the past 37 years, Pye had been ill for some time. He appeared to be recovering, however, until unexpected complications caused his death.

He umpired in city softball leagues for 28 years and was one of the founders of the original Victoria Umpires Association. Charlie also served as president of the association as well as the now-defunct Independent Athletic Association and Heywood Men's Softball Leagues.

He is surivived by his widow, Joyce; two sons, Terry and Rick, and a daughter, Linda.

Trojans Cruise Past Dolphins

VANCOUVER — Coach Brian Gingell sees a need for a return to the basics if Victoria Dolphins hope to get back on the winning track in the British Columbia Junior Big Four Football League.

Gingell felt good blocking and determined tackling were non-existent Sunday as the Dolphins were blasted 30-0 by the second-place Renfew Trojans.

"It had to be our poorest game yet," said Gingell of the Victoria team that netted a total offense of only 35 yards and allowed the Trojans to rack up 423 yards, including 265 on the ground.

Victoria quarterbacks completed seven of 14 passes for 42 yards but Dolphins' ground game wound up with a minus seven yards.

Stronger and more polished, Renfrew did not allow a Victoria first down in the first half.

Standout on attack for the Trojans was halfback Jim Devlin, who scored one touchdown while picking up 111 yards on 12 carries.

Mike Miller, Dave Franco and quarterback John White scored Renfrew's other majors. Mike Kurcher added six points with a 33-yard field goal and three converts.

Now with a 1-4, won-lost record, Dolphins play Richmond Raiders in Vancouver next weekend before returning to Victoria's Royal Athletic Park for their last home game on Sept. 24.

Big Comeback On Little Effort

Saanich Hornets, sparked by the five-touchdown effort of Mike Little, made the big turnabout in Vancouver Island Bantam Football League play at Cedar Hill Park Sunday.

Oak Bay Invaders held a surprising 14-0 lead at the half but Hornets broke loose in the final two quarters to chalk up a 40-14 victory.

Juan de Fuca Tigers edged Nanaimo Trojans 9-6 and Saanich Vampires clipped Cowichan Chiefs 36-22 in other games.

Scoring:

HORNETS (40) — Mike Little 5 touchdowns, Chris Spergo 1 touchdown, Andy Moody 2 two-point converts; OAK BAY INVADERS (14) — Bob Holland touchdown, Alan Paladini touchdown, Brad Stevenson two-point convert.

JUAN DE FUCA TIGERS (9) — Brian Ryland touchdown, Brian Flack single, Tigers safety touch; NANAIMO TROJANS (6) — Tim Leins touchdown.

COWICHAN CHIEFS (22) — Rory Chowen touchdown, Dean Barker touchdown, Rick McLaughlin touchdown, Parlad Dhut 2 two-point converts; SAANICH VAMPIRES (36) — Keith Smith 2 touchdowns, Terry Jones touchdown, Scott Tuttle touchdown, Alan Russell touchdown, Dave Morrison 3 two-point converts.

First for Unser In Three Years

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Bobby Unser, the hard-charging driver from Albuquerque, N.M., led much of the way Sunday and easily won the Governor's Cup 250-mile stock car race as the event ended under the yellow flag at the Wisconsin State Fair Park track.

Unser, who hadn't won a stock car race since 1974, was leading Dave Watson, from Milton, Wis., by 13.5 seconds when the yellow flag came out seven laps from the finish on the paved one-mile oval. The victory earned Unser $7,885—the winner's share of a record $41,400 purse.

A.J. Foyt, who leads the U.S. Auto Club points standings, finished third, one lap back. Foyt has 1,825 points for a 185-point lead over Terry Ryan going into the final race of the season in College Station, Texas, Nov. 12.

Sal Tovella of Addision, Ill., was fourth, two laps back, in a 1977 Plymouth Volare, followed by Jim Sauter of Necedah, Wis., in a 1977 Dodge Aspen.

ROBINSON HONORED

CINCINNATI (AP) — Frank Robinson, the top home-run hitter in Cincinnati Reds' history, has been elected to the National Baseball League club's Hall of Fame.

New Pilots Find Success

Cosmopolitan Royals and Victoria West, both with new pilots at the helm, chalked up weekend successes to move into the semi-finals of the Vancouver Island League's McGavin Cup competition.

Royals, with George Paul replacing Russ Ball as coach, defeated Gorge Molson 4-3 Saturday at Royal Athletic Park. Sunday, Vic West presented Bob English, who succeeded Doug Hill, with a victory in his debut, winning 5-0 over Nanaimo City.

The Wests' triumph at Heywood Avenue Park included a memorable debut by Dan Henry. A forward who transfered from the Gorge club, Henry scored three second-half goals to lead the way. Steve Forsland and Bob Duncan counted other Vic West goals, also in the second half.

Rudi Kuebler and Bob Mackie each scored twice to spark Royals' comeback in the Saturday match. Gorge led 2-0 at the half on tallies by Clay Booth and Josu Iruretagoyena.

Tied 2-2 at the end of regulation time, Mike Collis again provided Gorge with the lead by scoring in the first minute of overtime. Again, however, Royals came back. Kuebler set up Mackie for the tying goal at 11 minutes and then scored the winner with eight minutes remaining.

In exhibition play Saturday, Victoria Athletics, sparked by Dan Hood's two goals, edged HMS Blake's first team 3-1. University of Victoria Vikings defeated HMS Blake's second team 4-3 in a Friday game.

"Barfy won't hold his tail still."

The Bridge Expert

By FRED KARPIN

If one were to look at all four hands in today's deal, he would find it difficult to figure out how South went down at his four-spade contract. He had just two spade losers, one heart, no diamonds and no clubs (thanks to a successful club finesse). But, at the table, it was a horse of another color. And, although I cannot prove it, most thinking players, had they been sitting South, would have met South's fate.

Both sides vulnerable.
South deals.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Ten of ♣.

West didn't relish the job of selecting an opening lead out of his hand, so he flipped out the card nearest his thumb — the ten of clubs. Declarer now took a long time to reflect on the situation confronting him. He finally concluded that in view of the bidding (one club by South, two clubs by North) that West just couldn't be leading the ten of clubs from the doubleton K-10. Thus East simply had to have the club king.

Hence, it had to be right to put up dummy's ace of clubs at trick one. If West were leading from the doubleton 10-9, then East would have the singleton king, which the ace would fell. And if East had the doubleton K-9, then if a low club were played from dummy, East would win with the king and return his remaining club for West to ruff.

So declarer played the ace of clubs at trick one, after which he led a low spade and finessed his queen. West captured this lead with the king, cashed the ace of hearts and king of clubs, and then exposed his hand, stating: "I get another spade trick." He was right, of course, and South incurred a one-trick set.

Had West led either of the unbid suits at trick one, South would have fulfilled his contract, for somewhere along the line he would have taken the club finesse, thus avoiding the loss of a club trick. But West's abnormal lead talked declarer out of taking the club finesse.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

Astrological Forecast for Tuesday, September 12

By SIDNEY OMARR

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Accent on basic material, services, dependents, pets, doing something constructive about diet, nutrition. Cancer, Capricorn figure prominently. One "in charge" will see to it that you get a fair shake. Know it, be resolved and confident.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Highlight holiday spirit, joy, expansion, accelerated artistic and social activity. Gemini, Sagittarius — and the number 3 — figure prominently. Travel, creativity, language, communication dominate scene. Be willing to experiment without scattering forces.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Dig deep for pay dirt. Partner or mate provides monetary facts, figures. Key is to find ways of saving, of plugging loopholes which create avenues of loss. Sagittarius, Aquarius — and number 4 — figure prominently.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Welcome changes, but be analytical. Find reasons for happenings — and do not accept superficial explanations, claims. Perceive, sense what is of import — and do something about conclusions. Accent on legalities, joint efforts, marriage.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Maintain equilibrium despite "fantastic" claims by member of family. Do what must be done in good-natured manner. Seek harmony, be diplomatic, deal with Taurus, Libra, Scorpio persons. Low key approach is best for all concerned. Keep diet, health resolutions.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You get to heart of matters — and what you find is both pleasing and disturbing. Your self-esteem is raised, but you may be disillusioned by one you tended to idealize. Pisces figures prominently. Romance is fine, but keep priorities in focus.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Be realistic, especially about time, investments, emotional responses. Someone around you is a "psychic vampire," taking-and-taking, no thought of giving anything in return. Now is time to rid yourself of such "privileged characters."

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Cycle is favorable; you get good news. A relative, formerly a "sparring partner," makes noises like an ally. You win. Major point has been proven. Aries, Libra figure prominently. You finish project. You gain plaudits of one who writes, who is a part of the media.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): New approach could result in greater profit. Know it and act accordingly. Emphasis on money, valuables, personal possessions. Leo, Aquarius figure in scenario. Stress confidence, independence, original approach. Member of opposite sex offers high praise — and probably means it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Take lead, dig in, claim territory, refuse to be intimidated by age or tradition. Stand firm, tall. You win. You convince. Your arguments ring true. You attract allies. You make comeback as views are vindicated.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): What seems a dark chapter is actually brimming with light as you will discover. Gemini, Sagittarius figure prominently. You need not fear the unknown. Message will be clear — and "prescription" won't be hard to take.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Good lunar aspect coincides now with "proof" of friendship, loyalty. You learn also that lunch is not free. There is a price and you'll find out how much the cost. Romantic entanglement is funny — up to a point.

IF SEPTEMBER 12 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are conscious of physical appearance, more so than the average person. You laugh a lot, scatter your forces and expect luck to ride with you. Gemini, Sagittarius persons play key roles in your life. July was significant — you travel in October, you make new start before September is finished and you meet a fascinating Leo person. Your life is just beginning!

FUN WITH FIGURES

By J. A. H. HUNTER

"Only one chicken left?" Mark exclaimed. "It's been a good day for you."

Susie smiled. "I guess so, but I've only had four customers," she said. "And it's funny about them. The first bought half what I had and also half a chicken."

"Half a bird?" Mark chuckled. "Come on, Susie."

"That's right," she replied. "Then the second bought half what I had left, plus half a chicken. And the third and each did the same, half what I had left, plus half a chicken."

How many had she sold?

Spartans Win

Spartans climaxed an unbeaten march with a 1-0 decision over Oak Bay Saturday to capture the annual Bunyan women's field hockey tournament at the University of Victoria.

Stephanie Doney scored the only goal in the deciding game.

Spartans reached the final by topping the "A" section of the round-robin preliminaries, finishing one point ahead of Cowichan. Oak Bay, Sandpiper-Sanderlings and the combined Mariners-Sailors all finished with the same point total in the "B" section but Oak Bay was awarded first place on the strength of a better goals-for-and-against average.

Ready to launch into the regular season, Vancouver Island Association teams still have openings for several players and anybody interested in playing is asked to contact Linda Foley (652-2248).

Fourth Victory

Gert Pumfrey of Gorge Vale scored a 93 on her home course to capture the Vancouver Island senior women's golf championship for a fourth time.

Pumfrey finished two strokes ahead of clubmate Ivy Blunt as Gorge Vale golfers swept three of the four major honors.

Bea Lundgren, with a net 75, and Nora O'Connell finished 1-2 in the handicap division while the team of Lundgren, Pumfrey and Betty Kipp combined to give Gorge Vale the team championship.

Prospect Lake's Mrs. G. Gardner was named president of the Island association while Mrs. E. Medland of Colwood is vice-president. Mrs. R. Cochrane of Cedar Hill was elected secretary and Mrs. B. Meredith-Jones of Metchosin was named treasurer at the annual general meeting held following the tournament at Gorge Vale.

Flag Football

Touchdowns by Bob Stolz and Henry Hunt sparked Hollywood Park to a 14-6 Senior "A" Flag Football League victory over Tennis Systems Unlimited Sunday. Dale Gilmor scored the TSU major.

Players Needed

Teams in the Senior "A" Flag (touch) Football League have openings for several more players. Interested players are asked to contact Larry Chalmers (478-3938).

'General' Evades Hard-Luck Trend

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Jawl brothers' stable of Victoria, hard-luck loser the past two years in the British Columbia Derby, finally got a winner Saturday as Five Star General came from well off the pace to win the 33rd running of the race by four lengths.

Winner of the Derby Trial two weeks earlier, Five Star General was dead last through the mud in the early going, but under the quidance of jockey Andy Smith made a break at the mid-way point.

Smith got Five Star General between horses down the backstretch with a long sustained drive, took the lead on the stretch turn and then easily outdistanced Marching Duke and Tough Actor.

Five Star General was timed in one minute, 55 3-5 seconds over the 1 1-8 mile course and paid $6.80, $3.70 and $3.50. Marching Duke paid $4.70 and $5.10. Tough Actor, which set most of the pace, paid $4.70.

The favorite Hoist the Silver, riding under a record high weight of 131 pounds, never got into the battle and finished well back in sixth place.

The fine showing by Five Star General was a welcome sight for the Jawal Brothers because the horse had got off to a slow start this season. It also fullfilled their ambitions of winning the derby.

Bold Laddie, which cost the stable $100,000, broke down in the 1976 race and was subsequently turned out to stud. Smiley's Dream, finished a disappointing fourth last year after winning the Longacres Derby in Seattle.

"It's always been their (the Jawal brothers) dream to win the B.C. Derby," said trainer Don Mirrison. "Now that they've done it they're satisfied."

Five Star General was purchased by the Jawal brothers in Chicago last year for $50,000.

In Saturday racing on United States tracks, Liz's Pride, an invader from Winnipegunbeaten in seven outings, apparently didn't like the surroundings and finished last in the $118,990 Arlington-Washington Lassie Stakes at Chicago's Arlington Park.

However, It's in the Air, however, stuck to business for jockey Eddie Delahoussaye and closed with a rush for a four-length victory in the six-furlong race.

Liz's Pride, a 5-to-1 shot, delayed the start for 10 minutes. She scrambled under the gate, ran a furlong before being caught and then acted up again at the gate.

Angel Island, a 40-to-1 choice in the field of two-year-old fillies, finished second before a crowd of 19,768. Bequa, the second favorite, took third.

At New York, Fuzzbuster, the 8-to-5 favorite, was disqualified for interference and placed fourth while Crest of the Wave was declared the winner of the $135,100 Futurity Stakes for two-year-olds at Belmont Park.

Sandown Meet Pleases All

Fans Save Most For Last

By BILL WALKER
Times Staff

Victoria's standardbred racing fans saved their best for the last at Sandown Raceway, Saturday, as Vancouver Island's longest meeting came to an end.

A closing-day crowd of 1,711 wagered a record $137,868, almost $19,000 more than the previous daily high of $118,935 which was pushed through the mutuels one week earlier.

That brought the mutuel total for the 57-day meeting to $4,600,243 for a daily average of $80,706 and a per-race average of $8,898.

"We are pleased with the response we have received from Island fans," said general manager Jim Keeling, Jr. "We were disappointed at the beginning of the meet, which was slow, but that is understandable. We realize this was thoroughbred country and that it takes time to win acceptance."

Keeling also noted that the horsemen were pleased with the track and the facilities, the recreational amenities in the area and enjoyed racing on the Island.

As annouced earlier the pacers and trotters will return to Sandown next year following a winter at Cloverdale. The Cloverdale meeting opens in mid-October.

The final feature Saturday was billed as a match-up between the co-holders of the track record of 2:01.2, Trevor John and Over Burden.

And a close race it was with Trevor John going to the lead and Over Burden providing the challenge. Meanwhile, waiting in the wings was Steady Nick, an entry with Over Burden, and Steady Nick prevailed in the stretch to take the decision from Trevor John. Dusty Tex was third.

Driven by Clarence Gagnon, Steady Nick returned $3.50, $2.40 and $2.10 in his fifth win at Sandown.

There was a minus show pool in the feature with the first three finishers each paying $2.10.

Joe Hudon had three winners, Clever Dauber ($3.20) in the second, Bold Lobo ($7.00) in the third and Ruby Parker ($5.30) in the seventh.

Greg Tonkin was in the sulky for a pair of wins, Linda Quill ($24.90) in the sixth and Andys Adam ($5.50) in the 10th.

Leading driver Keith Linton meanwhile missed the final day as he was driving Valiant Dauber to victory at Edmonton.

Why a Mercedes-Benz doesn't lose its dignity on sharp curves, in panic stops or on washboard roads.

In 1931, Mercedes-Benz introduced four-wheel independent suspension. For the first time every wheel of a passenger car could adapt to rough road surfaces without losing a sure grip.

And since the wheels acted independently, if one encountered a soft shoulder or pothole, the remaining three wheels could handle the annoyance with greater safety than was ever before possible.

Surer feel of the road

Then in 1954, Mercedes-Benz introduced single-joint swing axles to passenger cars. This gave the driver a surer feel of the road as the car stepped nimbly up and over brutal bumps and around tight curves with much less transmitted vibration. So a driver could feel the road, but not fatigue.

In 1961 Mercedes-Benz eliminated even more vibration and added an even smoother ride by introducing air suspension with automatic level adjustment. In 1968, diagonal-pivot swing rear axles with four constant-velocity couplings were designed in to keep that smooth ride constant.

Then in 1972 Mercedes-Benz introduced zero-offset steering on the front suspension of the 450 Series sedans. It's now standard equipment on all Mercedes-Benz automobiles.

Zero-offset steering helps straight-line tracking under heavy braking conditions. It also lets you track smartly through turns without axle tramp or sway.

The suspension of the future

It's the ingeniously engineered hydro-pneumatic suspension on all four wheels of the Mercedes-Benz 6.9. It gives the driver a level of control almost unmatched by any other 4-door sedan. It provides exceptional stability, even on curves or dirt roads laced with potholes.

Why does Mercedes-Benz go to all this trouble just to keep four wheels on the road? Simple: The engineers believe their job is to advance the state of the automotive art.

They continually strive to find better ways to make a Mercedes-Benz even easier to drive ... without sacrificing driving responsiveness. Fatigue is reduced by an absence of vibration, bouncing, swaying and undue noise.

Differential mounted to the body to reduce the unsprung weight.

Safety first

All cars surround you with safety belts. A Mercedes-Benz also surrounds you with an additional belt of safety: a unitized steel protected passenger shell which is designed to help absorb impact energy.

In an unavoidable accident situation a Mercedes-Benz is designed to crumple progressively. For example—on impact the forward subframe can absorb shock by gradually closing like a metal accordion.

All in all a Mercedes-Benz surrounds you with over 100 safety features—most of which you'll probably never notice or need. But they're there—just in case.

It is to build safe, responsive, practical cars—with as few imperfections as possible.

This philosophy puts engineering ahead of petty economies and precludes the mass production of inexpensive cars. It allows little room for compromise or for shortcuts; just the pursuit of engineering excellence.

AIRLINE OFFER BOUGHT

MONTREAL (CP) — Air Canada groundworkers have voted to accept the airline's latest contract, union spokesmen said today.

While the average vote was 63.7 in favor across the country, it varied from 58.4 per cent to accept in the eastern region to 94.3 per cent in Regina, Saskatoon, Winnipeg and Thunder Bay.

In Toronto the vote in favor was 66.4 per cent while in Alberta and British Columbia it was 64 per cent.

Members of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers rejected two previous contract offers agreed to by their union negotiating team and the airline was shut down for 10 days after they began a walkout.

They returned to work last Monday after a third tentative contract agreement was reached under the mediation of former Labor Minister John Munro.

Butty Wept for Munro

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton landlord Julius Butty says he wept Friday when John Munro resigned as federal labor minister because Munro broke federal cabinet guidelines by telephoning a provincial court judge on Butty's behalf.

"I just have to offer him (Munro) my sympathy and my apology that I was connected with his resignation, knowingly or unknowingly," Butty said in an interview Sunday.

Munro, MP for Hamilton East, resigned from the federal cabinet as a result of his telephone call Aug. 18 to Judge Albert Marck. Munro has said the call was made to provide a character reference for Butty, sentenced that day for assaulting a tenant with a hammer in 1976.

Butty, who was not one of Munro's constituents, said Munro fell victim to his own goodwill in making the telephone call, which Butty said he first heard of through the media last week.

He said he had great respect for Munro and felt he had done the right thing by resigning.

Butty said his case may have been harmed by Munro's character reference, one of 15. He is appealing his conviction and $500 fine.

The co-accused, Butty's brother-in-law, Victor Toth of Windsor, Ont., received a suspended sentence and was placed on nine months' probation.

Butty said he has known Munro through work with the federal Liberal party and the Hungarian community since the early 1950s but that he never had asked any favors of Munro and they were not personal friends.

Butty said he had not spoken to Munro during or after the trial, although he would like to do so now.

Buss Ties Traffic

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) — Premier Bill Bennett rounded out a two-day, election-style visit Saturday with a traffic-stopping kiss in the middle of a city intersection.

The kiss brightened up a drizzly tour during which the premier reviewed the progress of New Westminster's downtown core redevelopment.

It took place after a young woman in the passenger seat of a passing truck called out to the premier as he was walking along a sidewalk with provincial and municipal officials, MLA's and reporters.

A member of Bennett's group later identified the woman as the daughter of one of the premier's long-time Kelowna friends.

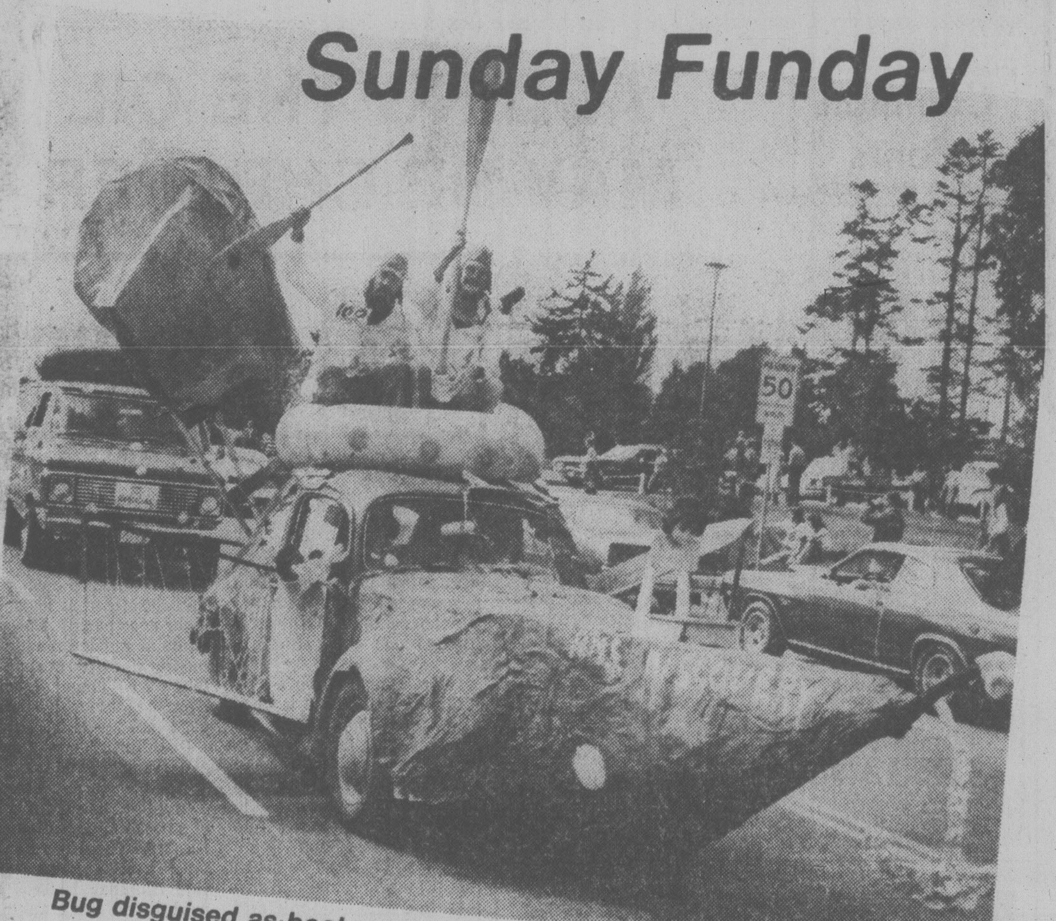
Tube Race Made Sunday Funday



Bug disguised as boat won honors for Dave Turner and Chuck Filtness

Two girls wore hula skirts, two men wore helmets.

There was one semi-streaker: a two-year-old boy who ran about wearing a hat, tee shirt — and nothing else.

It was the finish line at the Great Victoria Times Inner Tube Race and when the exhausted contestants hit the beach of Gorge Park they collapsed and then rolled over and had a party.

Spotting the winners of the various races was fairly easy but naming the best entries from more than 50 decorated vehicles was something else.

"What it came down to," said chief judge Helen Griffin, "was originality and hard work.

But the Volkswagen dressed up as HMS 'Miscovery' by Dave Turner and Chuck Filtness was a clear winner in the men's division, she said, as was another Capt. Cook ship by Andy and Shirley Burgess in the mixed division.

The ladies winner for Moose Camp by Wilma Morris and Cisco Martin was a happy float showing originality and effort in a close contest with the bees costumes of Wendy Emery and Rita McIntyre.

The parade also featured vehicles of the B.C. Vintage Car Club, a double decker bus and a firetruck.

Hampton Park Hustlers Bob Painton said it has never rained on inner tube race day but this year it was a close call — there was rain immediately before and after race day.

The event may be held earlier in the year in 1979.

To a Kid, a Fish is a Fish is a Fish

NOW AND THEN, FOR the good of our souls, Win and I like to take a couple of kids fishing. It's a therapeutic exercise. It renews our sense of wonder at the mysteries that lurk in nature's storehouse. And it is also more fun than a barrel of monkeys.

With this in mind, we asked Karen and Michael, two young neighbors, if they'd like to go out with us on a sunny early-September day.

They arrived at our place with life-jackets, floater coats, and large expectations. Already, they were disposing of our yet-to-be-caught fish. A salmon here and another there, and a really big one for Grandma . . .

There are plenty of times when we go fishing and don't catch a blessed thing. I pointed this out to Michael and Karen, but their faith remained undiminished. When you take children fishing, they expect to catch fish, and if they don't, your stature in their eyes will suffer.

With our own two grown and gone, we had forgotten the alarums and excursions that inevitably attend an outing with children.

Items forgotten, to be remembered at the last minute. A trip to the bathroom. Arguments over who is going to sit by whom, and who will catch the biggest. We arrived at the marina in a state of confusion which persisted until we and our gear were stowed in our boat and poised at the top of the little launching railway.

Repetition had made Win and me blase. We'd forgotten what fun it is to clatter down the rails, boat-bourne, and off them into the saltchuck. But with two eager kids along, the sense of adventure was renewed.

Out beyond the fringe of kelp that follows the shoreline, we rigged the rods and set out to troll up a salmon.

Trolling is slow work. The boat ambles along at a steady pace. The rods projecting overside from their holders nod their tips rhythmically; the lines slant at an angle into green water.

All this, of course, is subject to instant change. A reel can loose a sudden, loud screech as line is ripped from it, and a rod can buck and bend to the assault of a lively coho. But the longed-for didn't happen, and from tense interest, the children relaxed into polite boredom.

"I think we should try some jigging," Win said, and I welcomed her suggestion.

Jigging consists of bouncing a shiny metal lure off the sea-bottom as your boat drifts with breeze and current. It is an open invitation to rockfish and ling cod, sole and if your luck runs high, an occasional salmon. The action tends to be brisk.

So we rigged the rods with Stingsildas, potent Norwegian lures, and lowered them into the so-far unrewarding depths.

Interest revived, Michael and Karen jigged the lures vigorously up and down.

Then a squeal from Karen. "I've got one! I've got a fish!"

She reeled it in, a ling cod with gaping mouth and fins erect. It was so small that I automatically moved to release it. But a warning shake of Win's head and Karen's look of dismay stopped me.

Where kids are concerned, a fish is a fish is a fish. This was Karen's prize, and she was proud of it as if it had been a salmon.

The afternoon went by on wings, with here a cod and there a rockfish, and finally by way of a grand finale, an authentic spring salmon. Excitement ran wild. Our boat is beamy and stable: just as well, with two children, and two adults not much better, turning it into a madhouse!

The spring was eventually netted. We headed for the home landing, and there we were reminded of yet another aspect of kid fishing.

Michael and Karen hunkered over the fish box, settling the matter of who caught which. That too, we gathered, was mighty important.

So to this morning, when I went out to find two life-jackets and two floater coats on the carport apron, soaking in the rain. Dropped there by two successful young fishermen in their haste to scamper home with their catch to their father!

SOUND WAVES SPOT CANCER?

LONDON (AP) — Doctors examining women for breast cancer may have a better chance of early diagnosis by using very high frequency sound waves, a medical researcher says.

Dr. Peter Wells, chief physicist at Bristol General Hospital, advanced his argument at a meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Scienee. He said the use of the pulses of high frequency soundwaves might provide a fast, safe, effective and relatively inexpensive method of screening early breast cancer.

About 11,000 women in Britain die each year of breast cancer and prospects of cure are increased greatly by early detection.

Wells said current methods of detecting breast cancer have built-in drawbacks. Thermography, a technique of photographing the surface tempereatures of the body, is relatively inefficient, he said, and x-rays carry too great a risk of causing cancer to be used as a general screening system.

He said his research has shown lumps in the breast can be divided into cancerous and non-cancerous types by using the ultra-sound pulse technique, which already is widely employed to monitor development of babies in the womb.

So far only lumps large enough to be felt by hand have been categorized by the ultra-sound technique, Wells said, but he predicted it would be possible to detect far tumors as small as two to five millimetres.

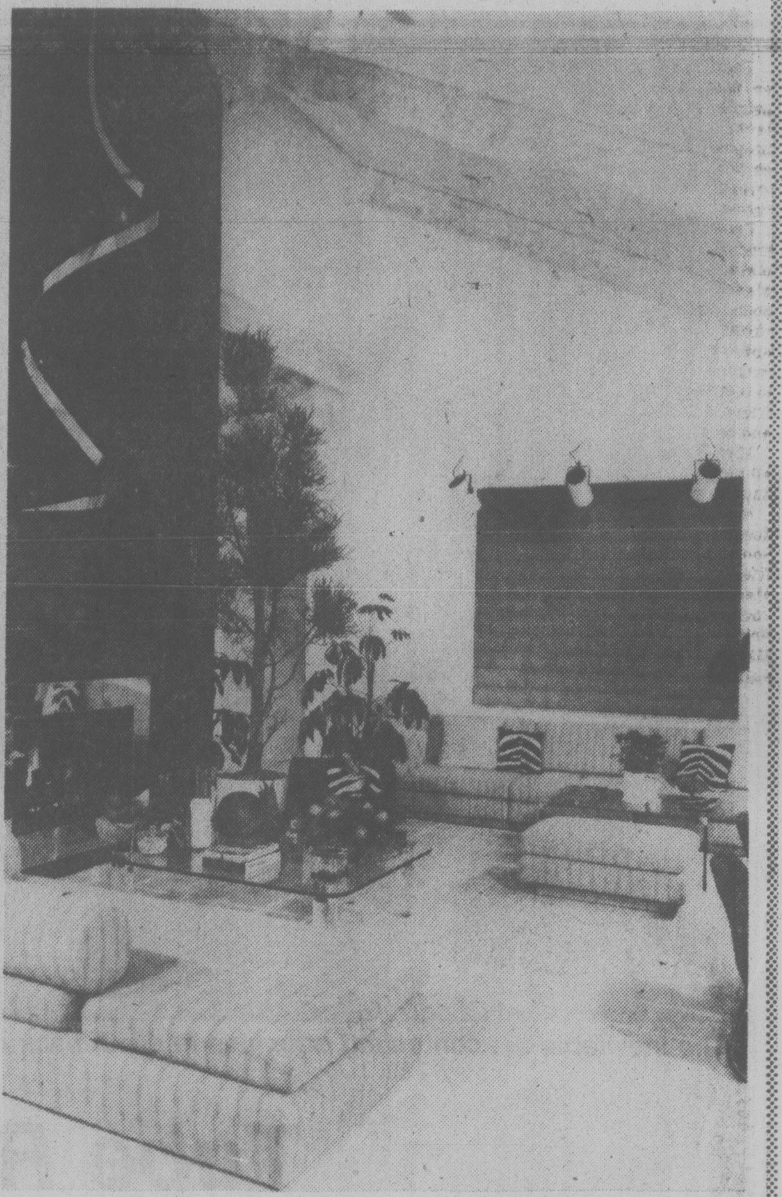
Wall Too Tall? Not at All

By PAULINE GRAVES



A football player called "Too-Tall Jones" is not too tall at all. And so it can be with room proportions.

When a room has not been furnished and proportions have no modifying influences such as furniture and accessories, everything comes on strong. High ceilings seem very high, and tall walls very tall. But through colors and furnishings, heights can diminish and be brought into scale without losing their drama and space making properties.

A case in point is this handsom room by interior designer Gary John. The ceiling rises sharply from the normal exterior wall height of 8½ feet, to a centre ridge at 15-feet, almost a two-storey height. But even though this soaring quality is clearly evident, it does not diminish the human element. In other words, one does not feel over-awed or uncomfortable against such a background. And this is due to several reasons.

One is color. Although the room generally is light, the fireplace and the wall above it are a contrasting black, becoming a strong vertical shaft in an off-white room. However, it doesn't seem part of the background, because a slender polished steel spiral curves down gently almost the length of the wall to the fireplace opening. So the fireplace becomes a handsome art work, displaying a delicate sculpture.

The other is illusion. Except for the vertical shaft, everything is at human scale, not above the average room height. Furniture is low, and the large wall hanging is close to the sofa, its top eight feet from the floor.

Guessing can cost extra when you need to buy a hunk of cheese to grate, shred or cube for a special recipe.

For a half cup, you needn't buy four ounces of chunk cheese. Two onces grates, shreds or cubes into one-half cup. A four-ounce chunk equals a cup; one ounce equals one-fourth cup.

FOLLOW THE RECIPE

When making pickles, use exactly the amount of vinegar called for in the recipe, to be assured of a properly-preserved product.

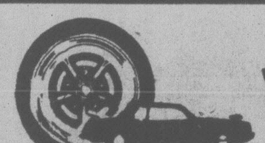
ADDING THE OIL MAY BE CHEAPER

By MICHAEL LAMM



wheels

By MICHAEL LAMM

Dear Mike: I've noticed recently that my 1975 Nova V-8 has been using a quart of oil every 500 miles. It used to never need additional oil between changes. The car has only 24,000 miles on it. My mechanic tells me he can't find anything wrong. What do you think? — OILER

Dear Oiler: It's often cheaper to add oil than to repair the cause of the problem. But check for an oil leak, especially at the rear main-bearing seal. Also have your mechanic test compression and check for valve-guide wear.

* * *

Dear Mike: I recently installed a trailer hitch and a 4-wire connector on my 1972 Pontiac. My problem now is the turn-signal lights. They flash very rapidly and dimly. — FLASHER

Dear Flasher: Replace your present normal flasher with a heavy-duty unit. The new one plugs into your fuse panel beneath the dashboard. It's a simple, quick change.

* * *

Dear Mike: I drive a 1966 Rambler and drive it very little. It now has only 48,000 miles on it. In the nine years I've owned it, I've never had the transmission fluid changed, nor have I added to it. Should I have the fluid changed at this point? Some say no, some yes. I've heard that if the automatic transmission doesn't leak and works all right, the best thing to do is leave it alone. Your opinion, please. — GOING STRONG

Dear Going: Do change it. Changing fluids and filter can't hurt anything. Transmission fluid oxidizes with use and can ruin the internal workings of your automatic. As a general rule, transmission fluid ought to be changed every 25,000 miles, although automakers' recommendations vary.

* * *

Dear Mike: I own a 1963 Thunderbird that needs new inner door panels. These are made of molded plastic, and the local Ford dealer says they're no longer available from the factory. Where can I get a pair? — BIRD DOG

Dear Bird: Try the American Thunderbird Assn., Box 7484, Kansas City, Mo. 64116. You might also order a copy of a book called Vintage Auto Almanac (Box 945, Bennington, Vt. 05201). Price of the 1978 Almanac is $5.50 postpaid. It contains a number of parts sources and club addresses for not just Thunderbird collectors but hobbyists interested in all sorts of older cars.

You're invited to send your automotive questions to Michael Lamm, Box 7607-B, Stockton, Calif. 95207. Not all questions can be answered personally. Those of broadest reader interest will appear in future columns.

Here's How to Avoid People

Miss Manners

By JUDITH MARTIN
Washington Post

There is no lack of advice on how to meet interesting people on one's vacation. The lack, which Miss Manners proposes to fill, is of advice on how to avoid meeting interesting people on one's vacation.

People who take the first kind of advice are all over the place — on beaches, in airplanes, around swimming pools, on ships, in souvenir shops — with that bright opening remark on their tongues and that eager look in their eyes, anticipating the friendship that will change and enrich their lives.

Miss Manners hopes they all meet one another and live happily ever after.

It's not that Miss Manners doesn't like to have friends. Some of Miss Manners' best friends are friends. But Miss Manners generally goes on vacation with the hope of getting reacquainted with Miss Manners, or whomever she has brought with her for the purpose. If that person happens to be Miss Jane Austen or Mr. Henry James, it does not mean that Miss Manners is therefore in need of meeting anyone noisier.

However, people who carry books around with them as conversation starters often bear an uncanny resemblance to people who carry books around for the purpose of reading them. It is therefore necessary that we develop some sensitivity about conversing with strangers.

Many holiday settings come under the old rule that says "the roof constitutes an introduction." This means, for one thing, that one cannot enter a friend's house without a willingness to attempt to reciprocate any friendship offered, however disastrous it may turn out to be. (Conversely, the sky does not necessarily constitute an introduction and a person who is, for example, stopped in an alley at night by a stranger and asked about his current finances is not rude if he resents it.)

Travel and resort situations usually permit people to open conversations with whomever they happen to find themselves near, but only provided they await encouragement before launching full-scale into acquaintanceship. A person who addresses his airplane seatmate with a friendly but noncommital remark, such as "I wonder if I might borrow the little bag from your seat pouch there — I don't think mine is going to be big enough," must be willing to allow that person the privilege of retreat.

Miss Manners Responds

Q: Don't you think it's rude the way the press gathers around a house where there has been a gruesome murder? How do you think the family feels?

A: That is what the members of the press are trying to find out for you.

Q: I have some friends with a weekend place in the country. There's nothing much to do there, but it's restful, and I enjoy staying there when they invite me. The problem is that they are late risers, and I get up early. They tell me to make my own breakfast, which I would be happy to do, but the minute they hear me running the water for my coffee, one of them comes out — sort of grumpily — and makes breakfast for me. I've taken to staying in my room, reading and pretending I'm asleep. How should I time getting up so I don't inconvenience them?

A: Time your emergence from your room with the first sound of running water in the bathroom. That way, you should inconvenience no one (except yourself, of course, because you will find the bathroom occupied).

Q: What is the proper attire for an adult with extreme good taste to wear to the International Children's Festival? Does this occasion require gloves; if so, how does one picnic? What is appropriate for any "precious little darlings" that may attend with me?

A: One should dress the children as fussily as possible, in order that they may enjoy themselves by getting difficult-to-launder clothes dirty beyond recognition. The adult of extreme good taste will then want to handle them with gardening gloves.

HATS, GLOVES MAY MAKE A COMEBACK

By BERNADINE MORRIS
New York Times

NEW YORK — As the Paris couturiers looked lovingly over their shoulders to the glory days of fashion from two to four decades ago, they paid special attention to the extremities.

Not for years have hats, shoes, veils, muffs, stockings, even gloves, warranted more than a passing glance.

Hats have been no more than knitted caps, shoes have been mainly boots and gloves have simply looked quaint in recent fall collections.

Now, in company with sequined and beaded evening fashions, broad shoulders and narrowed skirts for day, the elaborate trappings of earlier fashions have a certain fascination.

Women who professed to be uneasy about the recent penchant for layered clothes and voluminous ones will be able to adapt to a different style. Instead of fussing over what vest to put over what jacket, they can direct their energies to what hat goes with what outfit and they can learn the ancient art of tying a veil over their hair and anchoring it with a diamond brooch when they go out at night.

They can also learn how to keep their seamed stockings straight, how to sweep their hair off their necks and roll it around their head tightly (to form a neat base for those hats and headdresses), and how to walk in high heel shoes, especially during a busy day.

What has been lost in all this preoccupation with glamour and the fashion accoutrements of another day is a sense of contemporary dressing: clothes that are easy to move in, nonrestrictive and easy to care for.

Still, there is no denying the flattery of a veil across the eyes, of a jewel in the hair for evening, or an attractive hat at any time of day.

The Paris couture shows were full of these feminine frivolities, as designers paid almost as much attention to what went on the head, feet and hands as they did to the clothes themselves.

They certainly enhanced the look of the clothes — and offered ideas that will enter the main stream of fashion. In moderation, they have their charm. In heavy dosages, they may send women flying back to blue jeans and sneakers.

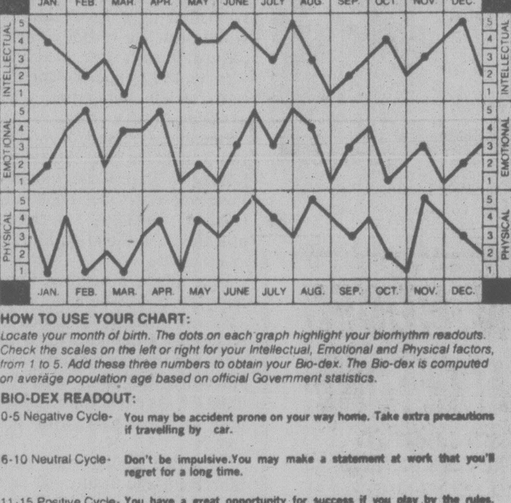
Mail-Order Bride?

VANCOUVER (CP) — Norm Babb, owner of a string of camera stores, took out a $7,000, three-quarter page advertisement in a Los Angeles newspaper to find himself a wife. The ad said applicants must be young, educated and beautiful, but after going out with several of the "hundreds' of women who replied, Babb said he liked none of them.

Bio-dex

Sept. 12/78
By Ken J. Michaels
Your computerized biorhythm
© BIODEX PRODUCTIONS 1978
Dist. by Toronto Sun Syndicate



HOW TO USE YOUR CHART:

BIO-DEX READOUT:

0-5 Negative Cycle-	You may be accident prone on your way home. Take extra precautions if travelling by car.
6-10 Neutral Cycle-	Don't be impulsive. You may make a statement at work that you'll regret for a long time.
11-15 Positive Cycle-	You have a great opportunity for success if you play by the rules. Admiration and praise will be forthcoming.

It's always fascinating to chart the biorhythms of history-makers and speculate what might have happened if the readings had been different. For instance it was a blustery day at Kitty Hawk, N.C. when Wilbur and Orville Wright tested the world's first powered airplane, and they needed all their skill to live through the flights. By an amazing coincidence, the brothers both had Bio-dex triple-highs, and piloted their frail craft into history.

STIR AWAY SKIN

When cooling sauce thickened with eggs, cornstarch or flour, prevent a skin from forming by stirring gently and often until sauce no longer steams.

DEAR ABBY: I read so many letters about cheating husbands, I wonder if anyone ever wonders how they got that way. Well, here is MY day:

I go to the breakfast table to find my usual bowl of cold cereal and instant coffee. (No toast; we're out of bread). My wife, who went from 120 to 180 pounds in two years, joins me in a soiled bathrobe, pinned together because she's been to busy watching soap operas and talking on the telephone to sew on buttons.

I'm wearing the same shirt I wore yesterday because she didn't have time to iron. (I couldn't even match up a pair of socks this morning).

It's only 7:30 a.m. and I'm already disgusted and irritable before going to work as a supervisor in a noisy office.

When I return home at 5:15 p.m. I find our 2-year-old still in his pajamas, and my wife is wearing the same soiled robe. The breakfast dishes are in the sink, and I notice an empty one-pound box of chocolates and a half-eaten pie by the TV.

When I'm about ready to go to the nearest McDonalds', she tells me "dinner is ready." ("Dinner" is canned spaghetti, instant potatoes and a tossed salad that should have been tossed into the garbage).

Two years ago, she quit work to have our baby, saying she'd return to work when the baby was a year old. Obviously, she has no intention of going back.

No matter how late I stay up, I go to bed alone because she wants to watch more television.

Would you blame me if I started looking for a woman who cares how she looks, and offers me some pleasant conversation, companionship and a little affection? So far, I haven't, but I'm considering it.

I'd be better off being a bachelor, eating out, and sending my clothes to a laundry. At least, I'd have good food, clean clothes and warm arms, and it would be cheaper than keeping a worthless woman.

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: Obviously, your wife is not the same woman you married. But why are you telling ME all this? Do you want to improve the situation, or set up some justification for cheating on her?

Has it ever occurred to you that your wife may have become lazy, slovenly and addicted to food and television because she's sick?

The Tiger or Me?

CALCUTTA (AP) — Game wardens are considering prosecuting a 20-year-old woman who killed a tiger with her axe when it approached her while she was collecting firewood in a forest. The killing of tigers is banned throughout India.

CONTACT LENSES OF SOFT PLASTIC

TORONTO (CP) — A Metropolitan Toronto optometrist says he has developed the world's first soft, plastic contact lenses for people who need bifocals.

Dr. Carl Evans said in an interview that the lenses are expected to be of most use to people over the age of 40.

Dr. Evans, who has been awarded a federal government grant to see how the lenses may be produced in volume, said 90 of his patients have been wearing them.

Control Tools Obsolete

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says an unpublished report by the Clarke Institute of Psychiatry shows air traffic controllers suffer the most stress from equipment that is obsolete and in need of repair.

Part of the survey on stress in Ontario air traffic controllers was released last week.

The Globe says that in the unpublished section, controllers said the federal government's focus on building an all-Canadian air system has prevented installation of better equipment and repair of existing equipment.

The survey of 266 Ontario air traffic controllers, employees of Transport Canada, was done in 1976 and 1977.

The Globe quotes one controller surveyed as saying that equipment is outdated and falling behind each day.

"In addition, it is poorly maintained, becoming an actual safety hazard . . . What a pity that the money poured into language training, where it is neither working nor required, could not be funnelled into better and safer equipment."

Alta. Will Join Court Fight

PEACE RIVER, Alta. (CP) — If the federal government's controversial legislation to change the constitution is challenged in the Supreme Court of Canada, Alberta will participate in the case as "a very interested party," Premier Peter Lougheed said Sunday.

"We'll certainly be in the court room," he told a news conference before he started a two-day cabinet tour of northwestern Alberta.

This was the first time that Lougheed has said the province would participate in a challenge of the legislation which proposes constitutional change to the Supreme Court and the Senate.

Lougheed said he is wary of Supreme Court challenges because of a "strong centralist tendency" of the court, but in this case the challenge would be beneficial.

Even if the legislation is legal, it should be pointed out that it is not in the spirit of Confederation, Lougheed said.

P.M.'s Cartoon Cut Angers Editors

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says several senior editors and writers at Maclean's magazine may resign to protest a decision by the magazine's publisher to remove a cartoon of Prime Minister Trudeau from the cover of the magazine's inaugural weekly issue.

The newspaper says the scheduled Trudeau cover was killed by Maclean's publisher Lloyd Hodgkinson and replaced by a cover that will portray United States President Jimmy Carter, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Premier Menachem Begin at the Camp David summit.

The Globe says sources at Maclean's said the publisher killed the Trudeau cover because he found it unflattering and felt it would cause embarrassment to senior executives of Maclean-Hunter when they make a formal presentation of the inaugural issue to Trudeau.

The Globe says the cartoon was to illustrate an inside story on Trudeau's indecision about calling a fall election and depicted the prime minister backed into a corner, leaning back with both hands against a brick wall and a rose lying on the floor in front of him. The legend was to read: "Trapped or scheming?"

The Globe says Peter Newman, editor-in-chief, said in a memo to the publisher Friday he was disturbed by the request to switch covers for the inaugural issue. Newman's memo is quoted as saying it is essential that future decisions be governed less by internal corporate considerations than esthetics, taste and other more relevant criteria.

Maclean's is making the transition this week from a biweekly to weekly magazine. The magazine's first weekly issue is due on newstands in Toronto today.

Indians Start Own School

CAUGHNAWAGA, Que. (CP) — About 300 Mohawk students, in a protest against Quebec language laws, today began attending their own high school in makeshift classrooms on this Indian reserve.

The students usually attend high school in nearby Chateauguay, but parents are refusing to register their children this year because they feel they should not be required to get permission to be educated in English.

"We have a principle at stake," Joe Deom, president of the Caughnawaga School Committee, said during the weekend. "It doesn't seem logical, to the Indian people at any rate, that under Bill 101 we should have to get permission to be educated in the language of our choice."

Bill 101, the French Language Charter, restricts English-language schools to the children of English-speaking persons born in Quebec, requiring them to obtain eligibility certificates. Indian reserves are not subject to the act, but once Indians leave the reserves, they must prove their eligiblity for education in English on the basis of the same criteria applied to other Quebec residents.

Police Brutality Charged

TORONTO (CP) — The widow of a 28-year-old man who died of a heart attack while in police custody early Saturday says her husband was beaten by the Metropolitan Toronto policemen who arrested him.

Brenda Morrison, 27, of Toronto said in an interview Saturday that three policemen held down her husband, Gordon Stephen Morrison, and then one stood on Morrison's chest.

Her sister, Margaret Connolly, 20, of Madoc, Ont., said she saw Morrison knocked down by a policeman with dark hair before "a blond one started hitting him with his knees in his chest then kicked him in the chest with his foot."

A police spokesman said Morrison, the father of two young boys, was arrested early Saturday and charged with causing a disturbance and two counts of resisting arrest after police were called to investigate a domestic dispute.

Seaside Killer

REGINA (CP) — Seaside arrowgrass, a common marsh plant resembling grass in southern Saskatchewan, is poisonous to cattle and sheep. If an animal eats seaside arrowgrass, some substances in the plant are converted to cyanide in the body. Sudden death usually occurs after only a small amount is eaten.

Dief Back Home

OTTAWA — Former prime minister John Diefenbaker is resting at home for a few days after two weeks in Ottawa Civic Hospital, his office said today.

Diefenbaker, who will be 83 Sept. 18, left hospital Sunday morning feeling "just fine, but weak because he has been in bed," a spokesman said.

OAK LAWN, Ill. — Chicago Tribune investigative reporter George Bliss, 60, was shot to death and his wife Theresa, 51, was critically injured early today in their Oak Lawn home, police said.

WASHINGTON — White House press secretary Jody Powell said late Sunday fugitive financier Robert Vesco tried but failed to win help with his federal legal problems from key advisers to President Carter.

MEAT CUTTER'S DAUGHTER, Kylene Barker, 22, of Galax, Va., was chosen the 51st Miss America Saturday in Atlantic City. Barker opposes legalization of marijuana and thinks the proposed equal rights amendment goes too far. She is the first Miss America from Virginia, and two of her idols are Jacqueline Onassis and actor Burt Reynolds.

Drummer's Death Won't Split Group

LONDON — The Who rock-music band plans to keep on performing as a group despite the death of its drummer, Keith Moon, who died of a drug overdose Thursday.

The three remaining members of The Who — Pete Townshend, Roger Daltrey and John Entwhistle — said Sunday they plan to continue performing as a group despite the death of Moon.

The spokesman said the group has no immediate concerts or recording sessions planned, but when it does resume playing, a substitute for Moon will probably be found, not to become a full member of the band but as a fill-in drummer.

Moon's body was found in his apartment by his blonde Swedish model fiancee Annette Walter-Lax, only a few hours after their engagement was announced at a party given by former Beatle Paul McCartney.

JACK WARNER DEAD AT 86

LOS ANGELES — Canadian-born Jack L. Warner, 86, last of the Hollywood movie moguls whose studio introduced "talking pictures" and who bossed scores of top stars while turning out an estimated 5,000 films, died in hospital Saturday.

Bring In Potted Plants

Bringing in the potted plants that have spent summer outdoors should not be delayed to the time when you must scurry around some late evening when frost has already appeared.

To do so is to invite several forms of disaster; perhaps most harmful would be that indoor heating would already be in use, cozy enough for the plant owner who welcomes the chance to get warm again after the outdoor jaunt. But think first of the plants.

It is well known that plants adjust very well to gradual changes in surroundings. Heat loving African marigolds that brown-off in May with chilly though frost-free nights after being raised in a heated greenhouse, will go through a degree or two of frost at the end of the season.

We often have these flowers outdoors in early October because the weather has been gradually cooling, a process which hardens plant cells, slows growth, and in general keeps many such plants blooming for days or even an extra week or two.

Plants in pots which have been raised with indoor warmth and were put out in June when nights were mellow and mild have acquired a certain amount of liking for outdoor conditions.

Chiefly they have thrived there because of a less dry atmosphere than indoors. Given the watering each of them required, the plants had fair level of humidity around even in the rainless weeks behind us and always there was the movement of air to bring a refreshed atmosphere.

Now, many of these plants are expected to flower or otherwise be at their best during the fall and winter months ahead, for they are native to countries which have plentiful sun and warmth from September through to May.

A gradual transition is the best treatment. If there is an unheated room where windows can be open night and day for the next week or two that will be the ideal place.

At first give the plants good light but not sunshine through close-up glass. Cacti will be an exception; they will take direct sun.

After about 10 days in this transition place, you will have decided on a special spot for each plant where it will be happy to spend the coming season, at the same time give the pleasure you anticipated when it was bought.

Before moving plants indoors: check for insects on leaves, inside flowers, and on stems. Remove by hand, or an old toothbrush if you find scale or much woolly aphis to be gently rubbed from stems. When you think all are gone, look again with a magnifying glass. And check in two days for those hatched indoors from unseen eggs.

Next, smooth leaves may need to be gently cleaned with a damp soft cloth before coming into the house. Clip off old or damaged pieces. Repot a plant which obviously needs it, but do this without disturbing the roots.

And finally, wash the pots all around and underneath. See that no insects or worms are hiding in drainage holes.

Among potted plants summering outdoors (on porch or in garden) are likely to be poinsettias, a fern or two, asparagus plants, an assortment of cacti and various succulents such as Chinese Jade (Crassula) and Kalanchoes. Many will flower well as a result of their sunny summer.

Give all the plants continued good care in the house and go easy with the heating during the next month or more so that the plants can settle down without ill effects after their vacation in the sun.

UPLANDS MANSION

Only 4 owners since 1911. Surely this says something special for this magnificent home of grace and space which was built to serve many more generations ... on a secluded ¾ acre of prime property with heritage trees and room for tennis court and pool ... bedrooms, bathrooms, galore and grand reception rooms ... solid oak panelling, beams, stained glass, maple floors ... a showplace for your antiques, wonderful for entertaining and marvellous fun to grow up in ... the amenities are all updated and last year a new shake roof and only last month the whole outside was painted. This is tremendous value at $195,000. Imagine trying to replace 7,000 sq. ft. (plus) of this quality construction on this size property in this location!!! Be the fortunate fifth generation.

THE NEWPORT BEACH

Only a few yards to Oak Bay's most exclusive waterfront on Beach Drive overlooking the Oak Bay Marina. Spacious luxury, two bedrooms, two full bathroom apartment homes built with all the extra design features and meticulous craftsmanship that typify all of Park Pacific's many fine projects. Half of these exceptional luxury apartment homes have sold in the past few weeks, somewhat of a record considering the price range and current market conditions. There will probably never be another building of this quality, in a similar location, ever to be created again in Victoria. Don't miss this fabulous opportunity to purchase happiness and peace of mind for the rest of your life knowing you will have an investment similar to a valuable original painting or a one of a kind art piece.

Priced from $110,000.00

HOW TO WRITE
A GOOD
CLASSIFIED ACTION AD

1—IT'S BEST to start your ad with the name of the article or service you have to offer. If you have an apartment, room, etc., for rent, or property for sale; start your ad with the location.

3—MAKE IT EASY for the readermore quickly and favorably when given complete, definite information. Always include the price in your advertisement.

3—MAKE IT SASY for the reader-prospect to reach you. Always give your telephone number or your name and address. If you do not have regular hours, state a preferred time for the prospect to get in touch with you.

4—PLAY SAFE. You get the greatest reader attention by using consecutive insertions. A six-day order is best and costs less, and you can, of course, stop your ad as soon as you get the results you want. You pay only for the days your ad appeared. Lower yearly rates are available to those who wish to keep their services or products before the public.

5—PLACE YOURSELF in the reader's position and ask yourself what you want to know about your offer. The answer you give will make a good Want Ad.

6—GIVE YOUR PROSPECT every inducement you can with good copy. Classified action ad readers have the money and are already interested in buying the merchandise or service you have to offer; the details and information you give are the most important.

7—TO PLACE YOUR AD, call 386-2121, your direct line number to fast Want Ad action. A courteous, efficient advisor will be glad to help you word and place your order. And remember, Classified Action Ads afford you the most complete coverage. Telephones are open 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. for you daily, Monday 5:30 p.m. Saturday. Don't allow the reader to speculate.

Schizo Urine Test

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Scientists say they have developed a simple chemical test to diagnose schizophrenia, a group of mental disorders believed to affect millions of people.

Dr. Rajendra Varma, a biochemist with Warren State Hospital in Warren, Pa., said Sunday that a chemical test of urine would back up traditional, imprecise ways of diagnosing the disorder such as watching for changes in behavior and attitudes over a period of time. She said she knew of no other similar chemical tests.

Schizophrenia is a group of mental disorders that affect people in varying degrees. The condition can occur at all ages, but most frequently begins to appear in young adults.

Sometimes brought on by a traumatic event or other change in a person's life, schizophrenia can be expressed as a detachment from reality, difficulty in making logical associations and a decreased range of emotion, doctors say. They treat the disorder primarily with drugs and psychotherapy.

Ms. Varma's work involves measuring the level of glucuronic acid in the urine. Studies of 60 male schizophrenics showed that it was significantly lower in 72 per cent of them than in 30 normal males.

"As the patient recovers, the values should go up and these values could be co-ordinated with other tests to check the progress of treatment," Ms. Varma said in an interview.

In recent years, scientists have been looking at possible biochemical causes of schizophrenia, focusing on changes in brain chemistry that affect how information is processed or transmitted.

These substances are made naturally in the central nervous system, but studies show they undergo chemical changes because of such environmental factors as learning, experience, stress and emotional changes, Ms. Varma said.

Yorkshire Trail Honors Cook

WHITBY, England (Reuter) — The name and memory of Captain James Cook, the navigator who claimed Australia for Britain and explored the New Zealand coast more than two centuries ago, are being kept alive in his native Yorkshire.

A Captain Cook Heritage Trail is being developed, primarily for the benefit of tourists, in a celebration which lasts until February, 1979. This will be the 200th anniversary of his murder and dismemberment by the natives of Hawaii during an attempt to find the Northwest Passage, linking the Atlantic and Pacific.

Cook claimed for Britain much of what later was to comprise her empire, including Australia and New Zealand.

Prince Charles recently attended a religious service at the foot of a towering statue of the navigator atop a cliff overlooking Whitby harbor. The service was conducted by the Anglican Bishop of the northern territory of Australia, Rt. Rev. Kenneth Mason.

Ironically the endorsement by royalty and the church came just after much-publicized suggestions that Cook was not a paragon of Christian virtue, as he had previously been pictured, but a womanizer who was also a smuggler or at least turned a blind eye to local smuggling activities.

The bronze statue of Cook was a present in 1970 from the people of Australia.

Cook's wartime career started at 18 when he went to work in the shipyards at Whitby. Later he became a seaman, sailing the North Sea for nine years and developing an unerring sense of navigation.

First he sailed to North America to help chart the St. Lawrence River for Britain's attempt to capture the French colonies in what later became Canada.

Then came the round-the-world voyages, during which he explored the New Zealand coast and the Australian eastern seaboard and many small islands.

In a later three-year trip to the Pacific, he circumnavigated the whole of the Antarctic continent — venturing further south than any other explorer.

Lastly came his voyage in a vain effort to find a passage from the Pacific to the Atlantic and his death in Hawaii, following a dispute over an alleged theft by the natives.

A museum in Whitby contains a Cook Room with material of value both to the historian and the maritime buff.

Meanwhile, Martin Frost, director of the Captain Cook Trust, made headlines with his suggestions that Cook was probably a womanizer who took a fancy to Polynesian women and that if the famous navigator did not himself bring venereal disease to Hawaii then his crew certainly did.

At that time women's favors could be bought for a ship's nail, from which brooches could be fashioned. Said Frost: "like his men, Cook was a man of his times."

In the 18th century, said Frost, Staithes was well known for its brisk trade in illicit brandy, tobacco and linen, and the shop where Cook worked was often visited by wealthy people.

"Why would the rich visit a small shop in remote Staithes?" asked Frost. "Was it a fence for selling the goods?"

He added that in Staithes, with just 600 people, "it was just not possible that Cook didn't know the smugglers or their business."

Decoding - Not Radar 'Foiled the U-Boats'

WASHIINGTON (Reuter) — The Post says documents made public Sunday show that Allied code-breaking, not radar, was the secret weapon that helped the Allies win the Battle of the Atlantic against Germany's U-boats in the Second World War.

The newspaper said documents turned over to the U.S. National Archives by the National Security Agency show that the German high command mistakenly believed that radar was the major reason for the increasing number of U-boat sinkings beginning in 1943.

However, it was Allied code-breakers who were eventually able to decode German radio messages, including those between Admiral Karl Doenitz's command and its U-boats.

Admiral Doenitz insisted on directing every step of the Battle of the Atlantic through radio commands, thus giving the edge to the Allies even before they had the ships and aircraft needed to move against the U-boat fleet.

"U-boats were not only told where to go after they had put to sea, but also when they were expected to arrive in their heading area," the NSA said.

The documents also showed that the Japanese began to organize a U.S. spy ring using members of the Spanish delegation to the U.S. three days after they attacked Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941.

The first months of the operation were financed with $500,000 left in a wall safe when the Japanese were forced to leave their Washington embassy. Spanish diplomats occupied the embassy and represented Japan's interest in the U.S. during the war.

The documents show that that the spy network, code-named TO (Japanese for Door), was controlled from Madrid.

The U.S. learned of its existence by breaking the Japanese diplomatic code, but no attempt was made to break up the ring because U.S. security officials did not want to reveal they had broken the code.

The only apparent overt U.S. move against the spy ring was on April 6, 1943, when the head of the spy ring, who was not identified in the documents, and former Spanish foreign minister Serrano Suner were assaulted in a Madrid park.

Japanese officials cabled Tokyo that the two men were attacked by two local ruffians who had been given their orders by the U.S. embassy.

Theatres Eye Strike To Protest Grant Cuts

The possibility was reviewed in the event of Canada Council grant cutbacks.

Association president Greg Poggi of the Manitoba Theatre Centre confirmed a strike by Canada's English-speaking theatre companies had been discussed but he would not elaborate.

A scheduled news conference at which the association was expected to announce its position was cancelled at the last minute.

"We have nothing to say to the public at this time," Poggi said later. He said the association had decided to wait until a national position was determined before stating its intentions.

He said the problem facing the companies was the lack of hard information on what form the cutbacks by the secretary of state will take.

Victoria Man Beaten

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two Vancouver men were being held Sunday for questioning by police following an attack on a Victoria man in a downtown rooming house Saturday night.

A police spokesman said Piara Singh Bal was beaten about the head with a broken bottle. He was reported in satisfactory condition in Vancouver General Hospital.

Police said a considerable amount of alcohol was consumed prior to the incident.

Separation 'Would Lose'

TORONTO (CP) — A survey conducted for The Star shows that Quebecers would vote against separation of the province from Canada if they had to vote now in a referendum on the issue.

The survey by Goldfarb Consultants of Toronto says 73 per cent of the people asked in June how they would vote on the issue said they would vote against separation.

In February, 1977, the date of the last survey by The Star, 71 per cent said they would oppose separation.

The latest survey shows that 25 per cent favored separation from Canada, the same percentage as in 1977.

Regardless of how they voted, 84 per cent of those interviewed said that if a referendum was held in the week ahead it would result in a defeat for separatism, the survey says.

It says 47 per cent of Quebecers believe Premier Rene Levesque is moderating his views on separation and 40 per cent believe the separatist movement is losing momentum rather than gaining.

People are beginning to believe that Levesque is willing to compromise and that because he is softening his views on separation, Quebecers opposed to separatism will be more willing to listen to what he has to say, the survey says.

Declining confidence in the Parti Quebecois government, the poor state of the Quebec economy and fear of separation are most often mentioned as reasons for feeling the separtist movement is losing momentum.

As many as six in 10 separatists, however, believe the movement is gaining momentum, the survey says.

MAIR READY

But rumors that one is imminent are only speculation, the consumer and corporate affairs minister said Sunday.

Interviewed here, Mair said any decision on an election is up to Premier Bill Bennett.

The minister said he is confident the Social Credit party would win at the polls but added he personally thinks there will be an election in the spring.

Mair discounted complaints from Jack Greenwood, president of the B.C. Chambers of Commerce that high wage demands are driving B.C. businesses to other provinces.

Epileptic Youth Found

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — Barrie Cox, 14, who had been missing since Wednesday night, was found Friday lying near a slough here, police said.

A search was launched for the youth Thursday. Cox is an epileptic and police had said they feared he had suffered a seizure.

Weapon Sale To Cap Visit?

LONDON (AP) — Britain announced today that Chinese Foreign Minister Huang Hua will visit London next month amid persisting reports that Peking soon may make a multi-billion-dollar purchase of British military aircraft.

The announcement by the foreign office said Huang is expected in London Oct. 10 for four days after attending the annual session of the United Nations General Assemby in New York City.

"It is hoped the visit will set the seal on a particularly active and productive year in Anglo-Chinese relations," a spokesman told journalists.

Meanwhile, three Chinese delegations of diplomats, aero-engineers and other technologists have begun talks with the state-run British Aerospace Corporation on the subject of the possible purchase of Britain's Harrier vertical takeoff jet fighter plane.

This aircraft, used by the U.S. Marine Corps, for some years has attracted Chinese attention as a weapon Peking could profitably deploy along the undeveloped terrain in the vicinity of its straggling frontiers with the Soviet Union.

The Chinese diplomatic and industrial delegation teams, who number nearly 70 persons, have been attending Britain's annual Farnborough Air Show, but for the next three or four weeks they have arranged to visit British companies involved in producing the Harrier and items that go into the aircraft.

Communist Weapons Stored for Coming Fight?

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — The use of a shoulder-fired, heat-seeking missile to down a Rhodesian civilian airliner could mean sophisticated Communist-supplied weapons are being prepared for the conflicts in southern Africa, intelligence sources in South Africa say.

South African and Western intelligence experts have been predicting a major escalation of the guerrilla wars in Rhodesia and South-West Africa (Namibia) for months. They base their predictions on information that more sophisticated military hardware is being channelled to the black nationalist groups fighting in Rhodesia and South-West Africa.

The Soviet Union and other Eastern bloc countries have been delivering rockets, heat-seeking missiles and multiple-tube rocket launchers called Stalin Organs to Rhodesian insurgents under Joshua Nkomo based in Zambia, intelligence reports say.

Robert Mugabe, Nkomo's partner in the fragile guerrilla alliance called the Patriotic Front, bases his forces in Mozambique. Intelligence reports says his primary source for light arms is China. But South African military sources say that in the last year heavy military trucks and some armored vehicles have arrived at various ports in Mozambique. Mugabe's guerrillas shelled Umtali, Rhodesia, on the border with Mozambique, with mortars and rockets last Thursday.

The Patriotic Front has rejected the transition formula to black-majority rule in Rhodesia worked out by white Prime Minister Ian Smith and three black moderates, sharing power in a biracial administration.

All of the intelligence sources commenting on the situation asked to remain anonymous because of the nature of their work.

Nkomo says his guerrillas shot down the four-engined Air Rhodesia Viscount plane with 56 persons on board Sept. 3 but he denies a Rhodesian government claim his men later massacred 10 of 18 whites who survived the crash. The guerrillas claim Rhodesia uses its civilian airline to move troops and military supplies.

Earlier this month guerrillas of the South-West African People's Organization (SWAPO) fired rockets from Zambia at a South African base at Katima Mulilo in the Caprivi Strip in northeastern South-West Africa, killing 10 South African soldiers. It was the first use by SWAPO of the 112-millimetre 9½-kilometre-range rockets.

The SWAPO guerrillas are fighting to end white-ruled South Africa's administration of neighboring South-West Africa. The South Africans run the territory under a League of Nations mandate since revoked by the United Nations.

The Soviet-made SA-7 heat-seeking missile used on the Rhodesian plane was widely used by North Vietnamese forces after 1972 in the Vietnam war. It has a two-pound explosive head that homes-in on an engine's exhaust. It can rise more than 3,000 metres.

SOVIETS PLAN NEW TREATY

MOSCOW (Reuter) — The Soviet Union said Saturday it will propose a new treaty to guarantee that countries which do not have nuclear weapons will not become victims of nuclear attack.

It said it will submit a draft of the treaty to the next session of the United Nations General Assembly.

In a letter to UN Secretary General Kurt Waldheim, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko said he was submitting "a draft international convention on strengthening security guarantees of non-nuclear states," the official Tass news agency reported.

"The Soviet Union treats with understanding the striving of non-nuclear states to receive from the nuclear states international-legal guarantees of non-use of nuclear weapons against them," Gromyko said.

MEDICAL USE POT OKAY IN ILLINOIS

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. James Thompson signed Saturday a bill permitting the use of marijuana for cancer patients and victims of uncontrollable glaucoma in Illinois.

The bill could affect as many as 11,000 Illinois residents who suffer from glaucoma and thousands more who are undergoing chemotherapy treatments for cancer. It takes effect Jan. 1.

Disease Spreading

NEW YORK (AP) — Recent publicity about an outbreak of Legionnaires disease here has resulted in 97 suspected cases of the disease, health officials said Sunday.

Officials have confirmed six cases of the disease, two of which have died. One person suspected, but not confirmed, to have the disease also died.

Dr. Paul Caswell, deputy director of operations for the Legionnaires Disease Task Force here, said the rise in suspected cases — the figure went up by 25 on Sunday was — "a result of the publicity given in recent days" about the outbreak.

The actual and suspected disease victims are among the 75,000 employees in the garment district, an area in the shadow of the Empire State building.

Caswell said testing the area's environment would continue, but washing streets and a subway station in the area stopped Sunday.

Two Set to Pay Duty on Watches

VANCOUVER (CP) — At least two persons at city hall who received watches from visiting Japanese dignitaries have decided to pay the $53 duty owed rather than give up their gifts to public auction.

Ald. Marguerite Ford and Gerry Lenoski, Mayor Jack Volrich's executive assistant, have both decided to pay duty on the watches presented to city officials Aug. 20.

Canada Customs regional head Hugh Cameron said Thursday that the recipients of the watches will have to pay duty or give them up.

Only gifts under $15 are duty free, he said.

The issue of the watches arose when it was discovered the mayor's wife and a woman worker in his office apparently received two of the watches intended for Vancouver's four women aldermen.

Lenoski, who had taken the blame for misdirecting the watches, said he had paid the duty on his watch. Volrich refused comment Friday on whether he intends to pay duty on the watch he received.

Ald. Ford said she had paid duty on her gift.

"I don't really know why we have to talk about watches again," she said. "It was kind of amusing when it hit the press but I don't even think it's funny anymore."

GUNSHOTS ADD TO PARTY RACKET

NELSON, B.C. (CP) — A city policeman says he fired two warning shots in the air after a group of men attacked five officers investigating a noisy party in this southeastern British Columbia city early Saturday.

Corporal Nelson Umphress said Sunday he fired the shots to get the attention of about 30 party-goers who had attacked him and four other policemen who were trying to get them to move their party back indoors.

Umphress said police had been to the house three times earlier after repeated complaints about noise, each time warning the celebrants on the street to move back inside or face disturbance charges.

The fourth time, at about 2 a.m., they attempted to arrest a man among about 30 people, some of whom attacked them. Police said the scene then turned into a brawl, in which one policemen suffered a broken finger and bruises.

Umphress said he was punched several times and a kick in the side prompted him to fire the shots. An RCMP officer on the scene was knocked down.

After the shots were fired, police said they called for assistance and when five more officers arrived, seven of the demonstrators were arrested.

Charged with causing a disturbance and obstructing police are: Clay Victor Jones, 19; Gregory Stephen Knight, 18; Louis Joseph Prive, 18; Hans Oelker, 26; Kevin Willis Waite, 19; and John Brian Mooers, 26; all of Nelson.

LOTO THEFT

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police have warned city residents to be careful where they purchase Loto Canada tickets following an incident Saturday at a local department store.

A spokesman said 700 tickets valued at $7,000 disappeared Saturday from the Eaton's downtown store.

26 Cells Too Few

KAMLOOPS (CP) — A spokesman for the Kamloops Regional Corrections Centre said Friday there aren't enough cells to hold remanded prisoners.

Neil Clarke said the facility's 26 cells are always filled forcing law enforcement officials to keep remanded prisoners in the RCMP city jail until the turnover makes space available, usually in two or three days.

Clarke said the correction centre, which accommodates prisoners from the Cariboo, Thompson-Okanagan and Nicola regions, has not increased in size since it was built 10 years ago.

District Sued

VANCOUVER (CP) — Three companies are suing the District of Maple Ridge to recover $839,857 paid to the municipality. J. R. S. Holdings Ltd., Jaymar Developments Ltd. and Pacific Coast Properties Ltd. are seeking a court declaration that the charges imposed for certain projects were beyond the powers of the municipality.

$2,000 in Retro

VANCOUVER (CP) — First line supervisors at the Cominco Ltd. mining operation at Kimberley will get special retroactive pay cheques of about $2,000, the Steelworkers union announced Friday. The union said the cheques are due since the Labor Relations Board upheld arbitrator Allan Hope's decision awarding the supervisors back pay to July 18, 1977, for working 15 minutes before and after each regular shift.

Bear Name Goes

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — Residents of Bear Lake, 50 kilometres north of this central Interior city, Saturday approved a referendum calling for an administrative and name change to their community by a vote of 27 to 20. The new name for Bear Lake will be Crooked River.

Stalemate Lingers

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Hotel, Restaurant and Culinary Employees and Bartenders Union, Local 40, has asked Labor Minister Allan Williams to have the Labor Relations Board impose a first contract covering employees at six Sandman Inn hotels. The union's move came four months after the two sides were ordered back to the bargaining table by the board.

Davis Guilty In Ticket Switch

Davis was found not guilty on an alternate charge of theft of more than $200.

The former federal fisheries minister who was fired from the provincial cabinet by Premier Bill Bennett, was found guilty in Vancouver County court by Judge J.J. Anderson.

Davis, the MLA for North Vancouver-Seymour, admitted converting the first-class tickets to economy class and using the difference to pay what he felt was a legitimate shortcoming in his expense accounts.

CITY IN FLAMES

'It's Civil War' In Nicaragua

Times News Services

MANAGUA, Nicaragua — Government troops under orders to kill guerrillas "until the last man" battled for every block in Nicaragua's second-largest city and parts of the capital today in a full-scale civil war in the South American nation. A third city, Masaya, was in flames.

The mounting death toll reportedly was in the hundreds in the fighting between the U.S.-trained army of President Anastasio Somoza and the Sandinista guerrillas, who last month staged a dramatic commando operation at the National Palace.

A communique suspending constitutional guarantees in both cities was issued from the "bunker" — Somoza's headquarters — amid the sounds of gunfire in the capital.

"There is no longer any doubt — it is a civil war," said Alvarro Chamorro Mora, vice president of the anti-Somoza Conservative party.

The national guard, Nicaragua's 7,500-man army and police force, announced that its forces were "maintaining control and order in the whole country." But the Red Cross said there was heavy gunfire Sunday night in two sections of the capital and in the cities of Esteli, Masaya and Leon.

The government newspaper Novedades said at least 16 persons were killed in one of the five districts of Managua where there was fighting. Unofficial reports said there were many casualties in other parts of the capital, and incomplete reports said there were at least 20 dead and many more wounded in other cities.

"Casualties among the terrorists were high," said a government communique, but it gave no figures.

Chamorro Mora said the Sandinista guerrillas — named after a guerrilla leader killed fighting U.S. Marines in the 1930s — had launched an offensive throughout the country.

Fires set by the guerrillas Saturday night were reported still burning more than 24 hours later in Leon, about 96 kilometres northwest of the Managua, and in Masaya, 30 kilometres south of the capital.

Sailors Clash At CFB

More than 200 sailors from three different countries wrapped up a drinking party late Sunday night by throwing beer cans and rocks at police officers from four different departments.

Nobody was hurt in the fracas at the Canadian Forces Base Esquimalt junior ranks mess but three men were taken into custody.

Police from Esquimalt, Victoria and RCMP officers from Colwood were called in to back up Military Police when the disturbance started.

About a dozen men from the four law enforcement agencies responded.

A base spokesman said between 200 and 250 sailors from the United States, Britain and New Zealand were involved.

"There were a few punches exchanged (between the sailors) and a few beer cans and rocks were thrown when the MPs showed up," said the Canadian Forces spokesman.

"There were a lot of people there, but it wasn't a John Wayne massacre."

He said there was no damage done to the mess except for a number of broken glasses.

He added it is not known what triggered the fracas.

The sailors came from the New Zealand frigate Otago, the U.S. frigates Brooke and Roark, as well as from eight British ships.

No Canadians were involved.

Esquimalt police took three men into custody but they were later released without charge.

The Canadian Forces spokesman said he expects disciplinary action will be taken by the ships on an inhouse basis.

City Tubers Sweep Slate

By AL FORREST
Times Staff

More than 300 paddlers were cheered on by thousands of spectators as the Great Victoria Times Inner Tube Race was run in perfect weather at the Gorge on Sunday.

Bathtubber Mayor Frank Ney of Nanaimo, parade marshal, set off smoke bombs and Capt. Cook applauded as the contestants splashed to the finish line at Gorge Park in the fifth annual race organized by the Hampton Park Hustlers.

The champions, all from Victoria, were:

Women's doubles: Pat Carfra and Kathy Walls, who at 37 and 33 respectively were "out to prove that life doesn't end at 30."

Finishing times were excellent, considering the paddlers were bucking a tide and a brisk wind, a Hustler official said.

Women's and mixed doubles went off together at 1:10 p.m. and Clayton and Braithwaite were the first to finish in a fast time of 32 minutes.

They were closely followed by Phil Hoen and Donna Stevenson who placed second in the mixed doubles category in a time of 34 minutes.

Third across the line were Carfra and Walls, winners of women's doubles, in 37 minutes.

Men's doubles started off 20 minutes later and Ellis and Salmond finished in 30 minutes. There are no official time records kept but the time of Clayton and Braithwaite in mixed doubles was considered very fast.

Rhodesians Angry: Smith Too Soft

SALISBURY (Reuter) — Many white Rhodesians displayed anger and frustration today over Prime Minister Ian Smith's failure to announce drastic new anti-guerrilla measures in his promised "get tough" speech Sunday.

Minutes after Smith finished speaking on national radio and television, telephones at newspaper offices were buzzing with calls from people who accused him of not going far enough.

A man who decribed himself as the brother of a girl killed when guerrillas shot down a Rhodesian airliner, said in a telephone interview: "This is not good enough. We are going to take action on our own." He said he would not give his name because he works for the government.

The man said he had expected Smith to pledge revenge attacks on bases in Zambia of the guerrillas, whose leader Joshua Nkomo has admitted his men brought down the Viscount airliner with a missile. Nkomo denies his guerrillas killed 10 survivors.

Other white Rhodesians said they are disappointed that Smith did not fullfil predictions of full martial law and general mobilization. The prime minister announced that a limited form of martial law will be introduced in certain areas.

The national unifying force (NUF) — an alliance of liberal leaning groups — criticized Smith's speech for its absence of political and diplomatic initiatives.

"This was the speech of a man who has run out of ideas," NUF Vice-President Lance Reynolds said. "Apart from blaming anyone but himself he solved no problems, put forward no solutions."

The Herald newspaper, in an editorial headed "damp squib", said: "After the big buildup of the last few days, the prime minister's speech was too full of generalities for many Rhodesians."

Meanwhile, police in Salisbury arrested two more officials of the internal wing of Nkomo's Zimbabwe African Peoples Union (ZAPU) on Sunday, party vice-president Mosiah Chinamano said today.

He said at least 21 ZAPU leaders had now been detained and he expected to be arrested himself along with others of his executive board. Smith in his speech had hinted at pending action against pro-guerrilla political groups inside Rhodesia.

There was no immediate word on whether supporters of the much smaller Peoples Movement — which is led by Mozambique-based Robert Mugabe, co-leader with Nkomo of the Patriotic Front guerrilla alliance — were also being rounded up.

On martial law, Smith said this might create as many problems as it solves but "with typical Rhodesian ingenuity we have adapted it to our own peculiar circumstances."

BANDIT HITS RESTAURANT

A masked bandit with a knife threatend a Bartholomew's restaurant employee before scooping up $8,000 and fleeing Sunday night.

Police so far have failed to turn up any suspects.

A staff member whose name is being witheld by police had just finished placing the cash in a bank deposit bag in the restaurant safe about 4 p.m. when the robber entered the office.

He wore a nylon stocking over his face and held a knife in his left hand. As he approached the employee he warned her not to move.

The bandit grabbed the deposit bag from the unlocked safe and fled on foot from the restaurant, located downstairs in the Executive House hotel at 777 Douglas St.

Police describe the suspect as being a white male, about five-foot 10-inches tall and 175 pounds.

Transit Strike Hits Toronto

Times News Services

TORONTO — Commuters in Canada's largest city bicycled, hitch-hiked, shared cars or walked to work today as transit drivers went on strike for the second time in four years in a contract dispute with the Toronto Transit Commission (TTC).

Police reported "no complications" in early morning traffic, but feared the worst. A 23-day transit strike in 1974 jammed downtown traffic and caused a dramatic rise in reported sexual assaults on women hitchhikers by motorists.

Crucial to the dispute was the TTC's refusal to budge from its initial offer of a six-per-cent wage increase. The union has demanded about an eight-per-cent hike.

Ice Holes Camsell; Crew Safe

The Esquimalt-based icebreaker Camsell, holed on the port side and with a skeleton crew manning pumps, remained lodged in Arctic ice today east of Cambridge Bay.

The vessel was holed by ice early Sunday morning in the forward part of the engine room.

The engine room was flooded and the Camsell lost power.

The crew managed to get an emergency generator going in order to get the pumps working.

Department of Transport district manager Larry Slaght said today the supply vessel Broderick took three hours to get to the Camsell and on arrival, found the ice was so thick she was unable to dislodge the ship.

"There is no danger of it (Camsell) sinking but the situation is still critical," Slaght said.

None of the 42-strong crew was hurt.

At the time of the incident the Camsell had just finished escorting the Broderick and the tug Angus Sherwood. The Broderick was 30 miles away when the Camsell was holed.

The icebeaker John A. Macdonald, on charter to Dome Petroleum, was steaming to the scene and expected there about noon Wednesday.

In response to a May Day message from Camsell's master, Capt. Jack Lennie, a C-130 Hercles aircraft was despatched from CFB Namao, outside Edmonton, Sunday with extra pumps and four rescue specialists aboard.

Slaght said today that 32 of the Camsell's crew will be flown home on Tuesday. The remaining 12 are living aboard the Broderick and working on the Camsell.

He said ice conditions are particularly bad this year and Broderick and Camsell are eight-tenths surrounded by ice.

When the Macdonald arrives, it is planned to tow Camsell into a sheltered bay in order to ascertain what temporary repairs can be made, he said.

The time factor is also critical. Slaght said the Camsell must be towed to Point Barrow in the next two weeks before the polar pack moves in.

If the vessel is unable to make it by then, the Camsell will have to be winterized and stay in the Arctic putting her out of commission until the next season.

today's markets

Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Soaring industrial and energy issues sent the Toronto stock market sharply higher today in active mid-session trading.

The TSE 300 index rose 7.18 to 1,287.61 with advances in all four of its most heavily-weighted groups.

Industrial products climbed 23.5 to 1,045.62, oil and gas stocks 20.46 to 1,761.33, financial services 5.74 to 1,147.83 and metals and minerals 3.69 to 1,104.63.

Real estate and construction shares jumped more than 15 points to lead the seven gainers among the other 10 groups within the 14-unit composite index. Utilities were the biggest of the three losers.

Volume of trading by 1 p.m. Toronto time totalled 3.73 million shares, down from 4.23 million at the same time Friday.

Advances led declines 204 to 163 with 220 issues unchanged.

Numac Oil and Gas Ltd. advanced 1¼ to $30¾ on the sale of 157,220 shares following its opening resumption after a brief halt late Friday due to an imbalance of orders.

New York

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 3.90 to 911.64 at 2 p.m. New York local time, after the rally had stalled in midday when profit-hunters began selling to benefit from early gains.

Advances held a 2-to-1 lead over declines on the New York Stock Exchange, where volume was active at 28.69 million shares.

The surge followed a 14.03-point gain Friday, when Wall Streeters, cheered about good news about the dollar, wholesale prices and the money supply, went on a buying spree.

The dollar was higher in early foreign exchange trading today, but settled back later on to finish mixed overseas.

Texaco gained ¼ to $25, Mobil was up ⅝ to $71, Atlantic Richfield rose ⅜ to $55¼ and Exxon added ⅛ to $51⅞.

Among blue-chips, General Motors rose ⅛ to $66⅛, AT and T gained ⅞ to $62⅛, Alcoa was up ⅝ to $47⅝ and Philip Morris picked up 1 to $76½.

Holiday Inns rose 1⅝ to $27¾ in active trading. The company said it would explore casino opprtunities in any states that legalized gambling.

Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices were higher in moderate trading today on the Montreal Stock Exchange, with the 85-stock composite index up 2.42 at 218.02.

Volume at 2 p.m. EDT was 356,786.

CP Ltd. was up ⅜ at $25, Imperial Oil A ⅝ at $12⅞, Moore ½ at $36½, Toronto-Dominion Bank ⅛ at $21¼ and Seagram $1 at $29¾. Bell Canada was off $1¼ at $60.

London

LONDON (CP) — Prices moved sharply higher near the close of moderate trading Monday on the London stock market.

High Line Credit

TORONTO (CP) — Bank of Nova Scotia has introduced a new plan to provide a personal line of credit for above-average income earners ranging from $5,000 to $15,000.

A bank spokesman said the annual interest rate for the service is 13.20 per cent. The service is geared for high income earners who require access to funds without having to come into a bank to arrange credit.

The minimum amount that can be drawn on the credit is $300.

CATTLE

CALGARY (CP) — Receipts at the Calgary public stockyards to 11 a.m. Alberta time today totalled 700 head, with a light supply of slaughter cows. Cattle on hand were mainly yearling feeder steers.

Trade was active with a broad local demand of slaughter cows. There were too few slaughter steers or heifers on offer to quote. Slaughter cows sold steady and bologna bulls were steady.

D1-2 cows 43.50-45-50, D3 41-43.50, D5 38-41. Good bulls 49-52.75.

Feeder cattle: Today's trade opened with the Monday fall feeder sale at the Calgary yards. This special sale, as well as the usual Friday sale, will continue throughout the fall.

All classes traded actively with a broad local demand. The bulk of sales were grass yearling cross-bred steers from British Columbia, which sold from $2 to $4 higher. Good feeder steers over 800 pounds 68-76.50, 700-800 pounds 70-77 and 600-700 pounds 70-78. Good feeder heifers over 700 pounds 60 67.50, 600-700 pounds 61-68.50. Feeder cows 42-50.

Imperial Oil Picks Calgary

CALGARY (CP) — A new company, Esso Resources Ltd. of Calgary, has officially taken charge of Canada's largest oil production operations.

Richard Bray, Esso executive vice-president who worked with Exxon in New York and Imperial in Toronto, said between 30 and 50 senior management personnel formerly based in Toronto will be transferred to Calgary.

He said the move demonstrates Imperial's recognition of the increasing importance of Calgary as an economic centre.

Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Soaring industrial and energy issues sent the Toronto stock market sharply higher today in active mid-session trading.

The TSE 300 index rose 7.18 to 1,287.61 with advances in all four of its most heavily-weighted groups.

Industrial products climbed 23.5 to 1,045.62, oil and gas stocks 20.46 to 1,761.33, financial services 5.74 to 1,147.83 and metals and minerals 3.69 to 1,104.63.

Real estate and construction shares jumped more than 15 points to lead the seven gainers among the other 10 groups within the 14-unit composite index. Utilities were the biggest of the three losers.

Volume of trading by 1 p.m. Toronto time totalled 3.73 million shares, down from 4.23 million at the same time Friday.

Advances led declines 204 to 163 with 220 issues unchanged.

Numac Oil and Gas Ltd. advanced 1¼ to $30¾ on the sale of 157,220 shares following its opening resumption after a brief halt late Friday due to an imbalance of orders.

New York

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 3.90 to 911.64 at 2 p.m. New York local time, after the rally had stalled in midday when profit-hunters began selling to benefit from early gains.

Advances held a 2-to-1 lead over declines on the New York Stock Exchange, where volume was active at 28.69 million shares.

The surge followed a 14.03-point gain Friday, when Wall Streeters, cheered about good news about the dollar, wholesale prices and the money supply, went on a buying spree.

The dollar was higher in early foreign exchange trading today, but settled back later on to finish mixed overseas.

Texaco gained ¼ to $25, Mobil was up ⅝ to $71, Atlantic Richfield rose ⅜ to $55¼ and Exxon added ⅛ to $51⅞.

Among blue-chips, General Motors rose ⅛ to $66⅛, AT and T gained ⅞ to $62⅛, Alcoa was up ⅝ to $47⅝ and Philip Morris picked up 1 to $76½.

Holiday Inns rose 1⅝ to $27¾ in active trading. The company said it would explore casino opprtunities in any states that legalized gambling.

Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices were higher in moderate trading today on the Montreal Stock Exchange, with the 85-stock composite index up 2.42 at 218.02.

Volume at 2 p.m. EDT was 356,786.

London

LONDON (CP) — Prices moved sharply higher near the close of moderate trading Monday on the London stock market.

CATTLE

CALGARY (CP) — Receipts at the Calgary public stockyards to 11 a.m. Alberta time today totalled 700 head, with a light supply of slaughter cows. Cattle on hand were mainly yearling feeder steers.

Trade was active with a broad local demand of slaughter cows. There were too few slaughter steers or heifers on offer to quote. Slaughter cows sold steady and bologna bulls were steady.

Feeder cattle: Today's trade opened with the Monday fall feeder sale at the Calgary yards. This special sale, as well as the usual Friday sale, will continue throughout the fall.

All classes traded actively with a broad local demand. The bulk of sales were grass yearling cross-bred steers from British Columbia, which sold from $2 to $4 higher. Good feeder steers over 800 pounds 68-76.50, 700-800 pounds 70-77 and 600-700 pounds 70-78.
